NEVER DRAFTS LAW TO BAR IMPURE MILK

May Get Supply Outside State.

(Picture on back page.)

The best and safest milk is not for the babies and children of Chicago.

With this declaration Mayor Dwyer yesterday announced he is preparing to present a city ordinance to forbid the delivery of milk from diseased cows in Chicago.

The mayor will confer this morning with Corporation Counsel Busch, discussing the ordinance, which is to be submitted to the city council at once.

Under the ordinance, which is to be submitted to the city council at once, the delivery of milk from diseased cows in Chicago is forbidden.

"As mayor of the city, I intend, in order as I am able, to prevent other cities from dumping their diseased milk on Chicagoans' doorsteps," the mayor declared.

"The ordinance is to be submitted to the city council at once, and I am confident it will be passed."

HOTEL GUESTS ROUTED BY FIRE ON MICH. BOUL.

One hundred and fifty residents of the Lafayette apartments, 1142 South Michigan avenue, and sixty guests of the Grant Park hotel, were driven to the street in scanty attire early this morning by a spectacular fire in the Roosevelt building at Michigan avenue and Roosevelt road. The fire started on the fourth floor and within a few minutes that and the fifth floor were swept by the flames.

Because of the danger of the fire spreading to the hotel and the apartments adjoining, all available fire apparatus was summoned by a 4-11 alarm and several special calls. Chief Arthur Seyferlich took personal charge of the fire fighters and the flames were confined to the two floors.

Several explosions of gasoline kept for cleaning lamp shades in lamp shade factories which occupy the building caused the flames to spread rapidly. Chief Seyferlich estimated the loss at $100,000. Among the concerns damaged were the Vogue Lamp Shade company, the Pratt School of Commerce, the Well Phonograph company, the La Salle Letter Service, the Morton Mann company, the Famous Specialty company, and the Steinbach studios. Extra police were called to handle the crowds that gathered to watch the fire.

West Parks to Build a Million Dollar Stadium

A million dollar athletic stadium, modeled after Soldier's field, was one of a dozen projects for a greater west park system outlined at a meeting of twenty-five leading citizens of the north and west sides last night.

The gathering, held in the office building of Union park, was the first official session of the executive committee of the west park advisory council. The purpose of the council, an organization of a hundred business men and women, will be to promote a kind of civic enterprise in the park district. Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the park board, is temporary chairman.

In addition to the stadium the program of the council will include immediate action on the following improvements:

Creation and development of several new small parks for the accommodation of outlying districts.

Wider, better lighted boulevards and further extension of the boulevard system.

Fifty new comfort stations, to be constructed at an estimated expense of $200,000 before next summer.

Stimulation of sports, especially skating, bicycling, swimming, and baseball.

Provision of artistic improvements such as fountains, sculpture, and buildings architecturally more beautiful.

West Side Falls Behind.

Through realization of this program, it is the intent of the council to put the west park system on a par with that of any other part of Chicago. Although it is the heart of the city, the west side district, it was pointed out last night, has fallen far behind in the promotion of community recreation.

"We have everything here that we need for west parks development—brains, enthusiasm, and money," declared Dr. Robertson. "Our problem now will be to harness it and make it work."

New Spirit Is Born.

A new spirit is being born in the citizens who own their homes and have business property on the west side. They are determined that our section of the city must keep pace with the north and south sides in schools, parks, and playgrounds.

Although the bonding power of the west park board has never been used to full advantage, Dr. Robertson pointed out that the annual tax levy is not adequate for its needs. With the big improvements ahead, he said, an important function of the council will be to work out a better financial plan.

According to the plans of Dr. Robertson, the council will be divided into committees, which will, in turn, be divided into sub-committees when necessary to detailed plans of improvement. Chairman of major committees are:

BOOTLEGGERS SHOT DEAD BY WIFE IN ROW OVER MEAL

John Scardina, 45 years old, a bootlegger with a long record of arrests as a freight car robber and a receiver of stolen goods, was shot to death by his wife, Blanche, in the Scardina flat, 544 Milwaukee avenue, late last night after a drunken quarrel. At first Mrs. Scardina told the police that two mysterious men had slain her husband, but when she was confronted with the story of her 16-year-old foster son, Samuel, who accused her of the shooting, she broke down and confessed.

The boy told the police both Scardina and his wife were intoxicated at the evening meal, about which Scardina complained. Scardina left the room in a rage, but returned in a few minutes and renewed the quarrel about the cooking. The boy said the father was about to strike his wife with a revolver when she wrenched it out of his hand and fired the bullet piercing his heart.

RAIDS RUM RING; FINDS BRIBERY OF COAST GUARD

President Attacked for "Laxity."

Simultaneous with a prohibition committee's attack on President Coolidge and especially on Secretary Mellon yesterday, charging non-enforcement of the dry law, an extensive raid was made by Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews' forces on bootleggers and coast guard officers in and near New York.

The raid hit the so-called chiefs of an international rum ring.

The attack on the President and Mr. Mellon by radical dyes met with a hot reply from the Secretary of the Treasury.

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—One of the greatest blows ever struck at highrump in the bootleg traffic was engineered today by United States District Attorney Emory R. Buckner, acting in concert with Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of federal prohibition enforcement.

With the issuance of forty-three warrants, came the arrest of twenty or more men including officers and members of the coast guard and William Dwyer, well known race track owner and sportsman, charged with being the head of an international rum ring controlling many millions in money, ships, and liquor.

Additional warrants for the arrest of men both in and out of the government service will be asked for within the next few days, according to Mr. Buckner. He said the roundup was the outcome of several months of investigation.

Blames Wet Flood on Rum Ring.

During the arraignment of some of the men arrested Mr. Stichman told Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard that the group for whom warrants had been issued, and which was headed by Dwyer, were responsible for the smuggling into this part of the great part of the liquor that has reached New York in years; that they bribed members of the coast guard with "money, wine, women and song" and maintained an intelligence service which rivaled that of the government.

He asked that not only the charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law be considered but also his statements in court regarding wholesale bribery and corruption of government officers.

Pounce on Many Offices.

The raiders visited simultaneously numerous alleged offices of the ring in greater New York and on Long Island.

When the coast guard boat 126 arrived at the barge office this evening her captain and four members of the crew were arrested on the same conspiracy charges.

Specific Charge Made.

Dwyer, the first man arraigned, entered the courtroom with a broad smile and an air of confidence. Mr. Stichman told Judge Goddard that Dwyer and the other defendants were charged specifically with having conspired to bring into New York 4,035 cases of liquor hidden under the coat of the bunkers of the steamship Augusta.

"This man," Mr. Stichman continued, "is the leading figure against whom the energies of the prohibition department."

"For more than two years coast guard boats have been in the pay of this defendant; so much so that in the Seagrill restaurant, at 141 West Forty-fifth street, which he owns (and which recently was padlocked), government employees were paid off by his representatives."

Mellon Denies Charges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Sharp denial of charges that President Coolidge and the administration had failed to support prohibition enforcement was made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today following publication of an attack by the United Committee for Prohibition Enforcement.

Mellon admitted that the situation was bad, but asserted no basis exists for the committee's charge that the President had never yet definitely taken the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

The attack, which was contained in a report signed by Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the United Committee, was supposed to represent the opinions of twenty-four organizations now holding meetings at the Raleigh hotel. In its report the committee called

Free State and Ulster Reach Border Accord

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The Irish boundary trouble has been settled by a mutual agreement between the Irish Free State, Ulster, and Great Britain. The agreement was signed at 8 o'clock tonight in Prime Minister Baldwin's rooms in the house of commons, thus ending the crisis precipitated by the resignation of Prof. John MacNeill, the Free State member of the boundary commission. President Cosgrave of the Free State and Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, acted for their respective governments. The principal terms of the agreement follow:

1. The boundary remains as it is, which eliminates article 12 of the Anglo-Irish treaty. Article 12 provided that if the six counties of Ulster did not unite with the Free State the border between the north and south was to be settled by a commission.

British Drop Debt Claims.

2. Article 5 of the treaty also goes. This article provided that the Free State assume a share of the national debt of the old United Kingdom. That share has been estimated all the way from $10,000,000 ($50,000,000) to $25,000,000 ($125,000,000) annually. The Irish had counter claims for former overtaxation, but even at best it would have meant a permanent tax of about $10,000,000 annually.

3. The council of Ireland also goes. This body never was constituted. It was intended to provide for handling matters of common interest to the north and south. Its powers are to be transferred to the two governments and a provision made for a joint conference of the two cabinets when matters of common interest need attention.

Free State to Pay More.

4. The Free State assumes the responsibility for all damage done in Ireland after 1921 and also agrees to pass legislation increasing the awards to victims of the rebellion and civil war by ten per cent. This, it is estimated, may cost about $60,000 ($300,000).

There are a few other minor clauses in the agreement which will have to be embodied in the schedule and attached to identical bills which must be passed both by the British parliament and the Dail in Dublin.

Craig Is Pleased.

Following the signing of the agreement Sir James stated:

"I am fully satisfied with the outcome of the negotiations. The signatories separate with a cordiality which I sincerely trust will result in more friendly relations being permanently maintained among all classes and creeds throughout Ireland and I will return to my own country with a sense of relief and satisfaction."

Winston Churchill, in an official statement detailing the negotiations leading up to today's agreement, says that the result must be regarded as an "immense advance in the whole process of reconciliation, appeasement, and conciliation which has been steadily taking place since the Irish treaty was signed. For the first time there is a complete agreement, not only between the British government and the Free State, but with northern Ireland."

Seeds of Peace Are Sown.

President Cosgrave and Kevin O'Higgins, who are on their way to Ireland, tonight telegraphed the Irish Times as follows:

"Today we have sown the seeds of peace. The problem with which we were confronted was not new.

DOPE AND KITTY
LIVEN COURT AS CASE NEARS ENDU. S. Charges of Ring to Jury Today.

BY SIDNEY SUTHERLAND.

In this big chair a moment and the desperate efforts of a pretty woman to escape a future which seems to her long years—say, from 8 to 10 years in a cell tier in a federal penitentiary.

The chair stands beside a long table in Federal Judge Wilkerson's courtroom, and the table is parking space for a hasty assortment of objects, including the fur clad elbows and hands of Kitty Gilhooley.

The judge hasn't arrived yet for the afternoon session, and Kitty, with her hair pinned up, is watching Special Agent C. L. Converse check over the exhibit of exhibits in the government's case against her. She is a woman of about 35, with a high forehead and a nose that seems to have been wronged from them by the misadventure that brought her to this courtroom.

Had Worth $200,000.

Kitty examines the exhibits that Converse and his partner, Pat Roche, have laid out on the table. They are the Gilhooley apartments at 413 Wabash boulevard on Aug. 4.

"What's the stuff worth?" Converse asks.

"Well, the whole haul comes to about $200,000," he began, when Kitty interrupted with an impatient wave of her hand.

"Look here a minute," she said—and she pointed.

The Gilhooley is as pretty as any woman can be who is close to the fourth milestone on a long and rocky downward path. Her bobbed hair is being its recent curling iron's work, and she is wearing a black dress that is a little too tight.

"You see the lace back and staves?" she asked, pointing to the ceiling.

Kitty's eyes are fixed on the ceiling, and she is looking at the ceiling with a look of intense interest. She is looking at the ceiling with a look of intense interest.

"This round white porcelain jar, four inches high and four inches across, is filled with pure opium. Dark, goey, looks like a cotton picker's molasses, eh? We found thirty pounds of it; and you can judge its value to the Gilhooleys when I tell you how they sell it: A tiny can, called a toy, is half an inch high and an inch across. It contains three pipefuls, and it sells for $1.

Some Is Unadulterated.

"Well, we found 69 cans of morphine and coke, or about 30,153 grains of the unadulterated stuff. On top of that and the raw opium we found gum opium and yep shee, the latter the ashes of the smoked drug. These last two, added together, increase the morphine content of the drug, and it sells, high.

"Then there were hop pipes and oil lamps and pots and pans they doctored all their stuff in, and a lot of other junk that costs the addict like the devil.

"How 'bout it, Kitty; would you pay $2,000 to get your hands on this lay-out?"

Kitty laughed. "I haven't been on the stuff for a year," she said.

"I know," said Converse. "You stretch a short time after the jury comes in tomorrow or Saturday.

"You see, Kitty didn't bother much with the retail trade. They handled it in huge bulk, and they sold to peddlers from all over. We know lots of it came from Detroit, and we're following the trail from this city back to wherever the hell it starts.

What Profit Would Be.

"Now, take this tin box here. It's two inches by three inches by four inches. It contains morphine cubes, one ounce of them. In one ounce there are 437 grains, and Kitty sold it at a dollar a grain. By the time Willie and the peddler got through adulterating it with sugar and milk, you can fancy what the queen's profits were!

"This tin box is one inch by two by three. It holds one ounce of cocaine. White flakes that look like the snow it's named after. That's 437 grains, also, at $1 each; and it, too, is adulterated.

Laughs Only with Month.

Kitty laughed again. But only with her mouth, exposing the tiny gold bands on two canine teeth which support the costly upper incisors and blucapids. She didn't laugh with her hands or her shoulders or her blue eyes. The first writhed like a wounded sand crab's legs. The second rose and fell throughout the day like the gulls of a suspended fish. Her eyes were somber and terrified and restlessly searching the faces of the bald men and middle aged men and unshaven young men in the jury box.

And she didn't laugh at all when Special Agent Roche, in the quick, thin lipped, sharp eyed manner of a pit terrier, told what he knew about the case he worked up. Indeed, Kitty began to weep, and the judge rumbled his thin black hair still more and ordered a recess. Pat O'Donnell, tall and homely and shabbily garbed and white haired, strolled into the corridor with curly headed, snappily dressed Louis Piquet to discuss their clients' chances.

Willie Considers Wife.

The spectators stretched their arms. About half of them were dope fiends of one sort or another. Some rubbed a nervous index finger across a pair of nostrils twitching for a whiff of coke. Several scratched their shins and shoulder blades—the itch of an opium eater unable to chew a cud of yep shee.

And Willie Gilhooley, dangerous eyed and dark and owning the long, slender phylanges of an adept dip, stroked his sobbing wife and tried to assure her that if they have tough luck this afternoon or tomorrow they can do better later on an appeal.

Case to Jury Today.

It's in the air, you know, around these courtrooms, whether an acquittal or a guilty finding is probable. Gilhooley, wise in his memory of other courts where he had stood before the sentencing jurist, worships the woman he married a decade back. He

BLAMES KILLING OF DAUGHTER ON MONEY MADNESS

Money madness impelled John A. Biagi, real estate broker, to kill his wife and attempt to kill his mother-in-law, Mrs. Martha McKay. That is the opinion of Mrs. McKay, in whose bungalow at 11555 Forrestville avenue the shooting occurred.

After misting his mother-in-law Biagi fired a bullet into his own brain. Mrs. McKay's story was told at the coroner's inquest yesterday.

"Biagi hated my daughter," she testified, "although they had been married only a year. But he wanted money. If he had killed me as he did my daughter he would not have killed himself. That was an afterthought; it came to him only when I had escaped."

DOES CONGRESS
FLY U. S. FLAG
IN CORRECT WAY?

Vice President Charles G. Dawes has promised to look into a complaint made by Dr. B. J. Cigrand, president of the National Flag Day association, to the effect that the United States senate and the house of representatives both fly the American flag in an improper manner.

Dr. Cigrand states that the stripes should be horizontal, with the stars at the flag's right. The Vice President's reply stated that the matter would be given immediate attention on his return to the capital.

David Lynn, capitol architect, interviewed yesterday in Washington, asserted that the flags on the buildings were properly flown.

With Simplicity

To achieve symmetry and style with simplicity, that is art; and art, unheralded, often unrecognized, yet renders pleasing and acceptable much that is commonplace.

In the shaping and fitting to the features of eyeglasses, for instance, there are so few lines to work with that simplicity virtually is forced upon us, and yet Almer Coe glasses invariably possess symmetry and style.

upon the President to assume leadership "in a situation which has become a national scandal unequalled in its political and financial ramifications."

"It is up with the President or down with the constitution," the report stated. "The alarming conditions which now prevail in this country are not the result of prohibition, but the result of treason to the constitution and willful indifference, incompetence, or perjury on the part of certain public officers who are charged with the responsibility for enforcing the law."

"Suppose he [Coolidge], the report continued, 'should remove the standard of allowing the prohibition unit to remain under the direction of the executive and place it in a separate unit beyond the reach of liquor politicians responsible only to himself. Suppose he should pledge all the resources at his command to enforce the 18th amendment without fear or favor and warned every man who proved recreant to his trust that dismissal awaited incompetents—who for one moment could doubt the result?'"

Not Our Fault, Mellon Says.

In denying the charges of the committee which were sent to the White House Mr. Mellon asserted that efforts had been made all over the country to enforce prohibition to the fullest extent of the government's ability and capacity. He declared the prohibition group's attack unjustified and not founded on fact.

"In what respect has the administration failed to support prohibition?" the secretary asked. "Gen. Andrews (assistant secretary in charge of prohibition) has reorganized the entire prohibition service, and he has found the very best men, who are making every effort to enforce the law. There are evidences that the law is not being enforced but we are making every effort to enforce it."

The attack had not reached the White House before the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist church sent a letter to the President criticizing the report and disavowing any responsibility whatever for it.

SISTER COLLIER OF LOST CYCLOPS DAMAGED AT SEA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Interest in the strange disappearance of the naval collier Cyclops during the world war was revived today when Secretary Wilbur received a report that the Orion, also a naval collier, had been placed in dry dock with hull amidships buckled and twisted and her forepeak tanks flooded. The damage was caused by a storm at sea.

As the Orion was a sister ship of the Cyclops, identical in size and construction, Secretary Wilbur has ordered an inquiry into the exact cause of the buckling of the ship with a view to determining whether this may have any bearing on the loss of the Cyclops.

There has been no more baffling mystery in the annals of the navy than the disappearance in March, 1916, of the Cyclops, a vessel of 19,000 tons displacement. With 57 passengers, 20 officers, and a crew of 213 aboard the collier sailed from a Brazilian port. On March 4 the Cyclops called at Barbados, British West Indies. This was the last heard of the vessel.

Forty Police to Watch
West Side Protest Meeting

Forty policemen will be on guard tonight at the West End auditorium to see that there is no disorder at a meeting called by the International Labor Defense council to protest against the continued imprisonment of Ben Gitlow and Charlotte Anita Whitney as anarchists. Gitlow has been in the Auburn prison, in New York, since 1921 for criminal anarchy. Miss Whitney is held in the Alameda county jail, California, for violation of the anti-syndicalism law. "Police will be stationed in all parts of the hall," Chief Collins said.

BILLS BREWING TO PERMIT BEER AND LIGHT WINE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—When the sixty-ninth congress is called to order next Monday noon not less than half a dozen different measures proposing modification of the Volstead act and to legalize beer and light wines will be ready for submission in the house.

Their introduction, it is admitted by wet leaders, will be merely the preliminary move in a determined effort during the coming session to supplant Volsteadism with government retail liquor stores, patterned after the system now in vogue in several Canadian provinces.

Of the numerous amendments which will be offered, one now being prepared by Rep. A. J. Sabath (Dem., Ill.) would sanction four per cent beer and place no definite limit on the alcoholic content of the light wines to be permitted.

From 2½ to 4½ Per Cent.
Rep. John Philip Hill (Rep., Md.) will offer a somewhat similar amendment, while others contemplated will propose beer ranging in alcoholic content from 2½ to 4½ per cent.

Meanwhile, according to Representative Sabath, a study is being made of the effects of Canadian legislation under which provincial governments operate liquor stores. The data, he says, will form the basis for similar laws to be submitted in congress as soon as possible.

"I am studying everything available to find how far we can go in amending the Volstead act without doing violence to the constitutional amendment," declared Mr. Sabath. "I have no wish to violate the constitution, but I have a definite right to seek to amend an unwise law which was passed in pursuance of the constitution or one of its amendments—regardless of the cries of some who brand as treasonable any attempt to criticize or amend such an act."

"To Save Young America."

"Conditions all about them, traceable directly to the Volstead act, are swiftly compelling people throughout the country to the conclusion that the law must be amended for the sake of young America, if for no other reason."

"In my amendment there will be no attempt made to determine when wine is intoxicating—that, of course, is something which varies according to the individual drinker. If wine is used as certain Europeans—particularly the French, Italians, or Germans—use it, it is not to be considered intoxicating."

KIPLING BETTER; 2 DOCTORS KEEP VIGIL AT SIDE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The condition of Rudyard Kipling, the author, who is ill with pleuro-pneumonia at his home at Burwash, Sussex, is slightly improved tonight. The doctor's bulletin is favorable, indicating that there is no extension of the disease and that he is maintaining his strength, despite his sixty years.

Lord Dawson, King George's physician, and Dr. Curtis, Mr. Kipling's own doctor, were at his bedside most of the day. Early this morning he was given oxygen.

GET REHEARING ON 1893 ARTS BUILDING BONDS

Elated at a decision of the Supreme court yesterday to grant a rehearing of the case, members of the South Park board said last night they would double their efforts to legalize the $5,000,000 bond issue for renovation of the world's fair fine arts building in Jackson park.

Although voted by the people and backed by civic and welfare organizations, the bond issue has been blocked since a recent ruling of the court holding it unconstitutional.

The rehearing was granted on the strength of evidence in a new petition presented by attorneys for the board.

A perfect 36 in Chicago is going to be a more or less perfect 36 in New York, in Baltimore, or even in London.

The Chicago Association of Dressmakers, through W. L. Ware, its executive secretary, in conjunction with the Interstate Merchants' council, headed by J. W. Knapp of Lansing, Mich., and the Chicago Dress Manufacturers' association, headed by Frank Mitchell, determined that matter of standardization of the state of dressmakers' garments and the war of standard size.

This agreement, it is estimated, will save the dressmaker a considerable sum of money in the purchase of fabric and in the cost of labor. It is estimated that the average dressmaker will save $100 a year.

Save Feminine Anguish.
And, of course, it will save the woman's time and trouble. She knows how much of her time is wasted in the search for a dress that will fit her. The standard size of 36 inches only to die with before the party, that the standard size of 36 inches only to die with before the party, that the standard size of 36 inches only to die with before the party.

But those uncertain days are over. In the future, according to the agreement, the dressmaker will be provided with a standard size of 36 inches. When the small town merchant gives his batch of ready to wear dresses to the manufacturer, he will do so to measure each coat and compare them with the chart.

Makes Five Year Study.
For five years Mr. Knapp has been investigating the standard of dressmakers' garments. More recently he and W. L. Ware, executive secretary of the Interstate Merchants' council, and J. W. Knapp, executive secretary of the Chicago Dress Manufacturers' association, have conducted a survey of the state of dressmakers' garments for the prevailing standard size.

Their findings were presented at a conference and were analyzed by Prof. Horace Scriver of Northwestern University. The following size chart is the result:

These are the minimum measurements as detailed by the conference. There is no law to prevent a dress manufacturer from using more material in his dresses, but the standard must never be below the above figures.

PERFECT 36 TO GET STANDARD MEASUREMENT

Makers of Clothing Plan

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
A perfect 36 in Chicago is going to be a name of less perfect 38 in Keokuk, or Baltimore, or even in Albuquerque.

The Chicago Association of Commerce, through W. L. Ware, its trade commissioner, in conjunction with the Merchants' council, headed by J. W. Knapp of Lansing, Mich., and the Chicago Dress Manufacturers' association, headed by Frank J. McDonald, determined that matter Tuesday when they made definite plans for the standardization of the sizes of women's garments and the war on the standard size.

The agreement, it is estimated by E. M. Hudson, Secretary Herbert Street, director of simplified practice, will save hundreds of thousands of dollars to industry annually.

Save Feminine Anguish.
And, of course, it will salvage good-natured women how much feminine anguish on the part of women who purchase a size 46 frock only to discover, just before the party, that the gown wouldn't decently clothe a slight 32.

By those uncertain days are gone forever.

In the future, according to the plan, measurements throughout the country will be provided with a standard size chart.

When the small town merchant receives his batch of ready to wear garments from the manufacturer, all he has to do is to measure each dress or suit, and compare them with those on the chart.

Makes Five Year Study.
For five years Mr. Knapp has been investigating the substandard conditions. More recently he and William F. Smith of Marshall Field & Co. conducted a survey of the statistics of the size of thousands of women to determine approximately correct measurements for the prevailing size in each group.

Their findings were presented at the conference and were analyzed by Prof. Horace Secor of Northwestern University. The following size chart is the result:

These are the minimum requirements, as detailed by the conference, to which dress manufacturers must adhere. There is no law to prevent an outside manufacturer from providing more material in his sized garments, but the size must never fall below the above figures.

Lieut. A. J. Every 400 pounds saved meant the gain of an hour in cruising radius.

Thus, by eliminating ten of the automatic safety valves, 400 pounds were saved and an hour gained.

(Chicago Tribune) Wash., D. C., Dec. 27. (Special)—Vice President Charles McNary in Washington today for the first time in his sixteenth congressional term before tonight was convinced the story in his fight for majority in the senate is within sight.

While Mr. McNary was opening Washington house at 1620 B road the Vice President headed for the capitol, where he found a waiting party of senators and receiving senators who only after he had been assured that he and other desired to confide to McNary the task of leading McNary's battle to rout old Gov. ## DAWES FINDS HIS RULES FIGHT HAS CHANGED THINGS Convinced Cloture Rule Is Within Sight.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—The President Dawes arrived in Washington today for the first time since the Sixty-ninth congress and was convinced that the cloture rule is within sight.

While Mrs. Dawes was opening her Washington house at 1620 Belmont street, the president hid himself in the Capitol, where he found himself surrounded by senators who after a long wait, decided to confide in him that he would not run out of town.

During the contrast with March, the president's change of attitude was a surprise to many. He had been so sure of himself that he would not be elected.

Not in Politics, He Says.
The president went out suddenly like a flash, and Gen. Dawes ejaculated with a shout:
"I am not a candidate for President now or at any other time, nor do I intend to be President, either. I shall perform the duties of my present office to the best of my ability, but I am out of politics."

Senator Cummins (Rep., Ia.), Senator Underwood (Dem., Ala.), who is author of a proposed majority cloture rule acceptable to Gen. Dawes, and numerous other senators called on the president and discussed the proposed action on the proposal at this time. A number prominent on both sides of the chamber told Mr. Dawes that in their opinion there is now a

SCIENTISTS DOUBT UNEARTHING OF AGED CITY IN E. MISSOURI

Louisiana, Mo., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Residents of Pike county tonight were skeptical and excavators were silent regarding a story being told by R. D. Burchard of St. Louis and associates that a buried city may be a site of a prehistoric civilization has been unearthed near here.

Excavating has been halted while Burchard and his associates attempt to sell stock to continue operations. Meanwhile archaeologists at St. Louis and Columbia, Mo., expressed doubt as to the accuracy of reports concerning the "buried city."

Tracy Burchard, a brother of R. D. Burchard, was cited by the postoffice department last May to show cause why a fraud order should not be issued barring him from use of the mails in attempting to sell "treasure locators."

These were devices on the order of divining rods. The citation was dismissed after Tracy Burchard promised to desist.

majority of the senate in favor of some form of majority cloture.

Sound Him on Compromise.
The Vice President was sounded by some of his callers as to his disposition to accept a compromise under the terms of which the majority cloture he proposed would be applied to the short closing session only of congress. This would prevent such minority filibusters as frequently have so impeded business as to allow a congress to expire by constitutional limitation at the end of a short session without the passage of necessary appropriation bills.

Gen. Dawes indicated that he would regard the adoption of a majority cloture rule for the short session a distinct improvement upon present conditions. It was gathered, however, that he will continue to fight for the rule in all sessions, although he will not reject any approach thereto he can obtain at any time.

Senator Underwood proposed that a motion for the previous question may be adopted by a simple majority after each senator has been allowed not to exceed one hour to discuss the bill under consideration.

Will Take Up Rule at Once.
That would break up such a filibuster as Senator Underwood himself employed successfully to prevent the Republican majority from passing the Dyer anti-lynching bill a few years ago.

The senate rules committee, of which Senator Curtis (Rep., Kas.), majority leader, is chairman, is prepared to consider the Dawes rules reform at once. There is a Republican vacancy in the committee, and the Republican members are now evenly divided on the question. Advocates of cloture are waiting with interest to see whether the Republican leaders fill this vacancy with a senator for or against the reform.

CHARGES RICHES RUINED HOME; SUES HUSBAND

One million dollars transformed a good husband into a faithless one, Mrs. Jennings, 1249 Asbury street, Hubbard Woods, declared yesterday as she filed a suit for separate maintenance against David L. Jennings, president of the Monroe Supply company, 38 South Dearborn street.

When Jennings was a $125 a month stenographer, back in 1911, he and his wife lived in happiness together, according to Mrs. Jennings. Later a son, David Jr., now 6 years old, arrived to add to their contentment.

Made Self a Millionaire.
Then, with only $600 capital, Jennings engaged in the railway supply business and in a few short years made himself a millionaire. Besides his business interests in Chicago, he now has a large ranch in Kenilworth and in Washington, D. C.

In July, 1924, Jennings' attitude toward his wife changed, she said. He would strike her, then beg her forgiveness. Mrs. Jennings suspected that her husband might have been interested in another woman. But she still hoped that their marital difficulties might be settled peaceably.

A year ago the wife "sat alone" at home. She received a telegram stating that her husband had been taken from a Washington bound train at Connelville, Pa., seriously ill from ptomaine poisoning.

Gave Up Hope.
Alarmed, Mrs. Jennings prepared to join her husband. Then a later telegram arrived telling that Jennings had been accompanied by a woman who posed as his wife. Mrs. Jennings gave up hope of winning back her husband.

She filed suit for separate maintenance at the time, but was again persuaded that a reconciliation was possible, and the suit was dismissed. But her husband's infatuation for the other woman, Mrs. Grace Haynes, continued, she learned, and the suit filed yesterday will be final.

C., A. & E. RAIL REORGANIZATION IS UNDER WAY

Reorganization of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad company, the third rail line operating between Chicago and western suburbs, is being planned, with a new capitalization of $19,500,000.

The plan is contingent upon the consolidation of the road with the Chicago, Westchester and Western railroad, a subsidiary, and which stockholders have been asked to approve.

If the consolidation and reorganization is effected elevated service over an extension now being built from the terminus of the Garfield park division of the Chicago Rapid Transit company's line to Bellwood will be started. La Salle street sees in the formation of a new Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad the eventual acquisition of the line into Samuel Insull's group of public utility corporations.

BANK INCREASES SURPLUS.
The Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank directors ordered $20,000 transferred from undivided profits to surplus, making the total $130,000. The capitalization is $200,000.

WOMAN, DINING AT LOOP HOTEL, DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Nellie Fisher, 32 years old, 4246 Sheridan road, became seriously ill while she and a girl friend were dining last night with two male companions in the College Inn at the Hotel Sherman. She died shortly after she had been taken to a hotel room.

Dr. Lee H. Kiel, the house physician, was summoned, but Mrs. Fisher was dead when he arrived. He said he thought death was due to heart disease.

Miss Evelyn Lewis, 1628 Farwell avenue, a manicurist; Marshall Dunn, a real estate salesman, and L. Keyes, a member of the College Inn orchestra, were members of the party. Jack Fisher, husband of the woman, is a traveling salesman and is out of the city, according to Miss Lewis.

THE AIRCRAFT REPORT.

The President's aircraft commission has made its report, which conforms pretty closely to the published forecast. The report rejects many of Col. Mitchell's recommendations and denies a good many of his charges. It opposes, for instance, his plan for an independent air force and it denies that the De Havilland planes are "flaming coffins," as the colonel alleged. We expect that not a few citizens will conclude that all is well with the nation's air defenses and proceed to forget all about it.

We do not believe that a careful reading of the commission's report will warrant any such confidence. In effect, the commission says merely that Col. Mitchell overstated his case. The colonel's name is not once mentioned in the report, but it is clear that the colonel and his accusations were foremost in the minds of the members of the commission when they were preparing it. Mr. Morrow and his associates had a duty to the country which was, first of all, to restore some sort of perspective in regard to aviation. They had to say that Col. Mitchell had been frightening the nation unnecessarily; that no nation can attack us from the air until our navy has been defeated because there is no such thing yet as a bombing plane with a cruising radius of much more than 300 miles; that no one knows just what airplane bombers can do to battleships in battle conditions; that, in short, the airplane has not done away with the usefulness of all the traditional forms of national defense on land and sea.

Once the perspective had been restored, the commission turned to a study of aviation conditions in the United States and discovered that the air services were not receiving fair treatment from the powers that rule the army and navy. That, after all, was the objective of Col. Mitchell's attack. We do not know whether he deliberately overstated his case to draw public attention to a national shortcoming, though we think it quite likely. If that was his idea, he has succeeded entirely. For the President's commission has found that the army general staff is unsympathetic to aviation and is treating it like a stepchild. If Col. Mitchell errs in putting too great reliance upon the air service in defending the country, the general staff errs in the opposite direction. Our high command doesn't like innovations.

We don't suppose any high command does. Our general staff is something of an improvement on the old system which it replaced. Once the adjutant general, the chief of ordnance, and the quartermaster general ran the army to please themselves. The soldiers in the field were the victims of swivel chair administrators. The general staff idea eventually was borrowed from Germany after it had been bettered by most of the world's best armies. It is better, but it has many of the same faults. The army is still run from swivel chairs by men who are thinking of war in terms of the past. They are studying the campaigns of Grant, Napoleon, Gustavus Adolphus, Caesar, and Alexander, and neglecting new weapons which are more important to victory than classic strategy. We suppose many of the younger artillery officers wish they had a Mitchell in their service to protest against the fixed idea of the staff that the infantry is the army. The artillery accounted for two thirds of the casualties in the last war, but there is inadequate recognition of the artillery's effectiveness in the post-war army of the United States. Perhaps one reason for that is the fact that most of our generals had little experience at the front. Not one man of general rank, we believe, was killed by the enemy.

We must expect any army such as ours, which exists chiefly in the hope that it will never be used, to tolerate inefficiency. It will be directed in large part by the older men whose initiative has been sapped by long years of rigid discipline. When a Frederick or a Napoleon builds an army for use, the quality of leadership is very different. A man of original mind in the secretary's chair can keep the staff from going to seed, but when the possibility of war is remote, the President is inclined to appoint politicians as secretaries, men who have neither the desire nor the ability to put through important reforms. Instead of guiding, the secretaries become the tools of the departmental mandarins. If the secretary fails, the only hope left is the man like Mitchell who will risk his career to correct abuses.

SOUTH STATE STREET'S JUST COMPLAINT.

We are in receipt of a letter from the South State Street Improvement Association. It reads as follows:

"Our association consists of business men and owners of property on South State street between Jackson boulevard and 12th street. South of Van Buren street we suffer from two things: the square mile of railroad jungle at our doorstep, closed to all development and progress, and the moribund local transportation situation, no subway, the iron band of the elevated loop through Van Buren street, and failure to alter the 'L' down Wells street, and over the alley 'L' at 8th street.

"What can we do about it?"

The only advice we can offer is to go to Mayor Dever about it. Go to the mayor, Commissioner of Public Works Sprague, and the representatives of the area in the city council.

The cause of the business men of South State street is the common cause of all Chicago. The "railroad jungle" hurls all Chicago. The loop and the lack of a subway is strangling the city. If the business men of South State street will join their voices to those already calling on the city officials and the railroads for relief perhaps it will bring remedial action a little more quickly.

GUIDING THE SCHOOLS OUT OF THE WOODS.

Since the beginning of the Dever administration the seat shortage in the Chicago public schools has been out from 70,000 to 45,000 seats, this despite an increased enrollment of 32,000 pupils. By the end of 1925, it is promised, the shortage will be cut by another 18,000 seats. Twenty-five schools have been constructed since 1923, and twenty-eight more are on their way toward completion.

It is the most progressive record that has been made in decades and it reflects credit on Mayor Dever, President Elliott, the school board trustees, and on Superintendent McAndrew.

After years of school boards which promised much and did little, it seems that Chicago has at last an organization managing its public schools which measures up, far beyond preceding boards, to the requirements of what a school board ought to be.

It is one of the saddest comments on America's forms of municipal government that school boards—not in Chicago alone but in all great cities—fall so far short of any decent ideal. It is admitted with the best and most serious intentions by all thoughtful people that the training of its children is one of the most important duties of the nation. Yet that duty is sometimes entrusted to groups of men and women markedly unfit to hold any important trust.

Here in Chicago the usual school board has been an outrageous example of incompetence. No other public body has permitted itself to be continually in the midst of such petty bickerings, such playfulness quarrels.

And the children have suffered. Overcrowding, lack of seats, a group of teachers running themselves like a sieve instead of a professional organization, an archaic educational program, these have been some of the results.

If the mayor, the present board, and the present superintendent succeed in guiding the city's school system out of the woods and on to the path of progress they will have accomplished a task as important as any which Chicago is faced. They will deserve the gratitude of the present, the rising, the coming, and succeeding generations.

STATE'S ATTORNEY CROWE.

In dealing with the bombing cases State's Attorney Crowe is showing the activity and resourcefulness which have given him a large amount of public confidence. A great many people are convinced, we are certain, that whatever results the state's attorney and his assistants get from jury trials, there is a determination in the prosecutor's office to break down crime if possible in the administration of justice.

Our court system does not favor the prosecutor. The procedure favors the offender, but Mr. Crowe has entered the cases as soon as the police have sprung them open or partly open and has really added an effective element of police and detective work to the functions of the state's attorney's office. Mr. Crowe's attack is vigorous and we hope it will have success.

CAUSE AND EFFECT IN TWO REGIONS.

Arthur Evans' articles on the boom towns of Florida and the Gulf coast impressed us with the fact that the conservative south is developing while the radical northwest is standing still. The impression was heightened by the figures on farm land values in Wisconsin, compiled by Paul O. Nyhus, federal-state agricultural statistician. Mr. Nyhus' comparison of values in 1920 and 1925 shows a decline of many millions of dollars in the last five years, during which Florida values have been leaping upward.

Florida is not the whole south, and all the money that is pouring into the region is not going into real estate speculation. Much more, we are informed, is being spent in industrial and mining development. Railroad building is proceeding at a brisk pace. The old south is changing.

The northwest has undeveloped natural resources, but they are not attracting capital for development in anything like the amounts that are flowing to the south. Capital will go where it is unimpeded by excessive taxation and protected from undue interference. States which attempt to regulate private business must pay the price in restricted development.

Northwest papers please copy.

There is a new story from Denver that Warden Tyan of the state penitentiary at Canon City has notified Gov. Morley that no more prisoners can be received until more cell room is provided. Colorado was one of the pioneers in the urge for more and better laws to follow the individual from the cradle to the grave. It seems a bit of cause and effect that now there is not enough prison room for the offenders.

There are other sections of the country which are finding trouble in making prison construction keep up with law making. The federal government can't find enough cell room. If a country will multiply its laws it will keep the jail architects busy.

The Other Side

CLEVELAND VIEWS THE WATERWAY PROJECT [Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Illinois, and particularly Chicago, dominate the convention of the Mississippi Valley association now in session at St. Louis. The big city on the lake has enough spokesmen on hand to dig the barge channel they argue for if each took a shovel and went to work. The Mississippi itself, patient Father of Waters, takes a back seat to the drainage canal.

The burden of talk, participated in by state officials, members of congress, bankers, and mere people, is that congress must be persuaded at once that commerce in the midwest requires a barge way to the sea through the Chicago river that runs uphill. And, of course, congress, while appropriating the two or three hundred millions required for the project, is expected to legislate a 16,000 cubic second feet extraction of water from Lake Michigan. So reads the Hull bill behind which Chicago is trying to marshal the valley association.

All this is according to program. Run an established commerce on the lakes to promote a new line down the valley. Affront Canada. Spoil the St. Lawrence project. All for sewage!

Chicago knows, the country knows, the Mississippi valley knows, that the barge way needs no more than 1,000 feet of water from the lake. The other 9,000 feet is for purposes that do not appear on the program at St. Louis.

OVERHEATED HOUSES.

WE ARE ABLE to be snuffed out because we keep our houses too hot and too dry in winter time. Our house conditions are constantly getting worse. I feel very sympathetic toward Dr. Hubbard's opinion because of severe cold contracted last week in attending a conference of health officers. The American Public Health association met in St. Louis in a large, well appointed hotel to the minute hotel. All of the 40 or 50 sessions were held in this hotel. On Wednesday night, in a session held in a hot room, the association adopted some resolutions condemning hot, close rooms. They failed to say anything about meeting places of the American Public Health association.

For four days there was no occasion to get out of the hotel. The heat was so bad that I had to stick my head out the window. The crowds were large; the associated and conglomerate noises and throats had been gathered from all parts of the United States and Canada. The heat in the hotel was hot, dry and even as to both temperature and moisture. The meeting of health promoters like to have killed me.

This Sunday morning as I sit here writing, as I sneeze and cough, ache and burn, I am strong for Hubbard, who writes on "Hot Air Comfort."

He says doctors in "Ars" are hypersensitive to temperature and humidity effects? He more than answers his question. His reply is "Yes, very, and getting worse." He tells us that a medical authority wrote in 1920 that the proper temperature was "not below 59 nor above 60." The average was 55. The recommendation was for "habitations, offices and schools." Presumably the people did not complain of discomfort when the temperature was as low as 55. This was true of people in hospitals. We are led to infer. But now we must have around 75, he says. I don't would recommend 60 might not escape with his life and a recommendation of 65 would prove unpopular. Dr. Hubbard has been actually become superstitious to cold.

We have also lost ground as respects heat. Our houses are too dry as well as too hot. Dr. Hubbard concludes: "The public demands hotter houses, hotter hotels and hotter cars. They thus invite hypersensitiveness to cold and to colds."

Public sentiment must be educated to demand the reform and the heating and ventilating business will surely respond. [Resolution on hot air. A. P. H. A.]

NEEDS CHANGE OF CLIMATE. R. A. M. writes: I am writing to get your advice as to a good location for me to live in. In 1923 I had pneumonia, and again in March of this year, and the doctors have informed me that I must make a change in climate. At first it was thought that I had tuberculosis, but after several analyses and X-rays it was found that I did not. However, I was told that my lungs were in a very weak condition and I was advised to leave town.

At the present time I seem to be in the best of health; am 5 feet 3 inches in height and weigh 147 pounds, which is 25 pounds more than I have ever weighed. Am drinking a gallon of milk a day, but, due to my work, I am inside most of the time.

When I moved here in 1915 I have been affected with colds, and do not seem to be able to check them before they get me down in bed. Where would you suggest me living, as I have been told by the doctors to go to Florida and by others to go west?

REPLY. Get the diagnosis settled first. If you have tuberculosis, go into the dry section of the southwest. If you are not tuberculous, go into any section where the winter climate is mild enough to permit you to be out of doors most of the time.

RELATIONSHIP OF COUSINS. Mrs. A. B. writes:

1. What relations are first cousin's children? Are they second or third cousins? I have always considered that they were third cousins.

2. I am to become a mother from such a marriage. Is the child apt to look deformed or foolish, as superstitious people tell me?

REPLY. 1. Second cousins. 2. No. Just the foolish crepe hangings.

CONTRACTOR PROVES DISHONEST. Friend of the People.—When I built my home I signed a contract with a contractor to have him hire men to do the plastering, roofing and other things, and I must have him in full for the work. I don't think he has ever paid me a cent. Do you think they could place a lien against my property and can I hold this contractor for such a sum of money. Just what is the law on such a situation? F. F.

We do not have sufficient facts before us to justify an absolute answer, and it is not practicable to cover here all the points of law that might be involved. In general, before making payments, an owner should receive from the contractor a statement of amounts due to material, men and laborers. [Sec. 5.]

A contractor cannot enforce a lien to the prejudice of third persons unless within four months of completion he sues to enforce his lien or files with the clerk of the Circuit court a claim of lien for which a printed form can be secured from state's attorney. As against the owner, the claim may be filed at any time within two years after completion. [Sec. 9.]

TO ITALY VIA U. S. Chicago, Nov. 30.—[Friend of the People.]—A brother of mine now in Mexico wants to come across the United States to New York, where he is to sail for Italy. As he is of Italian descent they do not want to let him in on account of the immigration quota restrictions. Don't you think he can show his citizenship ticket and passport he should be allowed to travel through the country so he could see me before he sailed? C. B.

Your brother who is in Mexico should make application to the immigration officer at the port through which he wishes to enter the United States. Such officer has authority to permit an alien to enter the United States for a purpose of immigration. And may the alien through the United States. He may require a bond guaranteeing the alien's departure from the United States. TOWARD D. ELEY, District Director of Immigration.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 4, 1865. WASHINGTON.—It was understood here last week that the release of Malory, the former rebel naval hero, would be conditioned upon his giving information concerning the archives of the confederate navy. It will undoubtedly transpire that they were burned at Charlotte, N. C., by order of Jefferson Davis during the rout that followed the surrender of Johnston. The release of the rebel state department, if not destroyed, are in Georgia, at some spot unknown to the government.

WASHINGTON.—Smuggling on the Canadian frontier has been almost entirely suppressed by the employment of female detectives.

BRISTOL, England.—Sir Morton Peto, the railway king, following a visit to America, declared that "Chicago, a few years ago a mere dot on the boundless prairie, has advanced to a vast city, with a population exceeding a quarter of a million, and with public buildings finer than those of any city I know of."

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 4, 1900. WASHINGTON.—The second session of the Fifty-sixth congress began, and after the reading of President McKinley's message by the clerks both houses adjourned as a mark of respect to Senators Gear and Davis, whose deaths took place during the recess.

CHICAGO.—Five persons were killed and sixteen injured when a boiler in the lighting and heating plant of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad at Kinzie and Kingsbury streets blew up. Four of the injured were in a parlor car of the Ashland, Wis., Limited, which was passing at the time. The building was practically demolished.

CHICAGO.—Lloyd J. Smith was expelled from the Chicago Board of Trade for "dishonest and dishonorable conduct" in withdrawing grain from a public warehouse and not cancelling the warehouse receipts thereon. John Hill Jr. and T. M. Baxter made the arguments for the prosecution. Mr. Smith spoke for himself for two hours, and his attorney, James Milne, made a strong plea.

BRISTOL, Pa.—Oscar Boos, alleged victim of having while a cadet at the West Point Military academy, died. It is said his throat was terribly inflamed by tobacco smoke other cadets are accused of having administered to him in combination with dishonorable conduct. No food could be swallowed and young Boos virtually starved to death. The boy refused to name the hasers, saying: "It is a matter of honor." His father resents

AFTERTHOUGHT.

Do you remember that year of ours When youth enthralled our veins like wine? My love for you I vowed with flowers—Violets, pinks, and girl o' mine, Orchids at seventeen bucks the crack! Oh, that I had the currency back!

Do you remember the gifts I chose? You must have gathered a carload or so; I couldn't see past the tip of my nose—Money was money, and I made it go; Wrist watches, pendants and trinkets each day; Santa Claus, I, in the form of a gent—Why didn't guardians take me away? If I had it now, I'd pay up the rent!

Do you remember that mellow June The roads we took in the moon's high way? The vows we vowed to the cricket's tune? Do you remember? Do I? I'll say! I chartered a cab—for days and days! Gee, when I think of it, I could sob! I could use that cash in a dozen of ways—If I had it now, I'd give up my job!

GORDON SEABROOK.

NEW YORK has notified its policemen that Mr. Martin John Durkin is in the city and the newspapers in Gotham are in a terrible state of excitement. Doggone it, everything Chicago has New York tries to claim.

Pipe Down Gobs—It's a Peace Meeting Monday. R. H. L.: I know you never repeat, but would you mind elucidating a bit as to the plan of campaign for this War of December Seventh? Having been absent on scouting duty on the Mesabe range for the last five weeks, I haven't been able to keep in communication with the flagship and I should like very much to know if this is going to be a regular war or merely battle practice. However, I recently encountered a sergeant major of Minnesota marines who said he would never get in another war if they had gobs in it. His regiment and five gobs were ashore together in St. Nazaire and he had to work three days without sleep checking up on the casualties.

HUGH TUTHALUNE.

We Can Only Suggest. R. H. L.: Somebody's sure started something. Every one I know is betting his shirt on what's going to be in the new Line Book. I've got ten bucks that Ed Stone's "The Wanderer" will be there when the roll is called, and another that Le Moussaire's "There Is a Hint of Autumn" in the "Air" will be A. W. O. L. itself. Don't fall me, Big Boy, don't fall me!

PHILIP SPACE.

Ha, a Gridgram Contest. R. H. L.: Since it is likely that the Line, not to be outdone by the W. G. N., will probably start a gridgram contest, let my entry be the first: "Grange Grabs Goober, Gyrate Giddy, Gets Gypsey."

Wouldn't it be nice if Mr. Pyle's name began with G?

THE UNDERGRADUATES at the U. of C. have chosen Kernwein to walk at the head in their annual promenade. Bully for the undergrads and bully for good, old Kernwein. And may the alumni shore duty with the marines. This bird comes out in the second act in the dogout scene and you'll know him cause he has a red cross kit an he patches up some wounds for the leathernecks that are being shot. Well, just because that was the work that Charley Bateman did before he was roarin' crazy from exhaustion, shellshock an gas I want you to clap your hands as hard as you can for this fellow. And when you do it just say under your breath, "Here's to you and God bless you, Charley Bateman, goby."

JULIE E. B.

ALICE'S PAPA got up in court yesterday, his face black with indignation, and shouted to Kip's counsel not to call him a taxi-driver. Mr. Jones said that he had stood for a good deal, but that was one insult to which he would not submit. Well, we all have our pet peeves.

LOLA MALLAT.

Too Late! It's Gone to Press. R. H. L.: If you're kidding, Dick, if you're kidding, and resents the front of that Line Book for Don Meara, Chicago'll need five million to hide you in.

HUGH TUTHALUNE.

WHY, GEORGE! R. H. L.: Of course it's very nice to paint our country's heroes with sugar and hang them about in convenient places to be admired, but, Dick, do you know that George Washington had false teeth? He did, and not only that, but they fitted him badly, so that the Gilbert Stuart portraits of him, usually printed in text books, fail to show the true outlines of his face. I'll bet that he took them out at night, too, and put them in a glass. No man can be very romantic when he does that, even though he is the father of his country.

RAB THE RAMBLER.

OUR SAILORS IN NEW ZEALAND. Chicago, Dec. 3.—Alexander Marky was quoted in this morning's TRIBUNE as having said at a City club luncheon that he "never saw such a spectacle as the American sailors when they went ashore in New Zealand and that by evening most of them were dead drunk."

Two of my sons made the Australian cruise. One, a lieutenant aboard the Idaho, was in charge of the shore patrol in Auckland. I quote directly from his letters: "The conduct of the men in general has been exemplary. All the newspapers have commented on it in superlative terms. We have on the average 4,000 men ashore every day. That means 56,000 liberties made here during our two weeks' visit. From that number we have made 150 arrests, or less than one-third of one per cent. In other words, about one man out of every 350 gives trouble, and it is usually very minor trouble at that. Most of the Donnybrooks are on the question of who won the war. The people and the authorities in both New Zealand and Sydney are unanimous in saying that our American sailors are the best ambassadors that any country has ever sent them."

Our American boys are doubtless red blooded and high spirited, but they are not drunkards, and it is incurred by the one made at the City club should not go unchallenged.

A SUBWAY FLEA. Chicago, Dec. 1.—Please, please, local politicians, get busy and get rapid transit subways for Chicago! Let no obstacle hinder—build subways! Build them on a grand scale, not the small scale of the London folks then build them. While we are die dreamland and boasting, we are fast choking to death.

WE CAN'T.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE NEW ELGIN, ILL., NOV. 23.—One thing appears to have been overlooked in the construction of the Union station. This is a mortuary chapel for the convenience of those who perish in their efforts to negotiate the vast distances of the new terminal. Verily, to the elderly, the infirm, the heavy laden or to the individual afflicted with some feet the new depot is a mortuary. The comfort stations at the extreme west end of the structure, a walk of practically three ordinary city blocks from the gates in the train shed next the river. One must descend a stairway of twenty-nine steps and go another half block west to complete one's journey. There is no elevator to take one to the street level overhead. Some trains are parked so far out in the train shed that a great hardship is incurred by those who use them. The 5:19 Elgin train stands about opposite the Northwestern depot on Madison street.

ORIN CROOKER.

PAINT ON THE CLARK STREET BRIDGE. Chicago, Nov. 24.—I wish to congratulate the city engineers on the way they have finally painted the approach to the Clark street bridge.

The bright new paint they are using is indeed a protection both to pedestrians and motorists. Heretofore the barrier has been of such dingy appearance that it could hardly be noticed.

IN DEFENSE OF POLAND. Chicago, Ill., Nov. 23.—A great deal of the information given on Poland in THE TRIBUNE is from some unreliable source, or else the presentation of conditions must be intentionally distorted. It is true that the existing conditions in Poland at the present time cannot be compared with the conditions of a country that has escaped the tyrannical policy of foreign despots. It cannot be expected from any nation whose indus-

WHY SHE WANTS ALIMONY

Oak Park, Ill., Dec. 1.—Judge Lewis...
...may be correct in a few cases as to the...
...divorce and alimony question, but he is...
...wrong in many others, as, for instance, in...
...mine. What is to be done when a...
...wife has always been a true and helpful...
...mate to her husband, when she has borne...
...him a healthy and beautiful daughter, and...
...practiced economy so the home could be...

...been assisting his young stenographer in...
...commuting to and from their office, taking...
...her to shows and dinners and even...
...taken of dinners at her home?

Then, why shouldn't he pay alimony...
...and sufficient? Why should these greedy...
...divorcers and husband snatchers run...

I have never married again, and if I do...

LOUCHEUR TELLS U. S. THAT DEBT IS FIRST ON MIND

Assures of Paris Intention to Hurry Settlement

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Possibility of an early renewal of the French debt negotiations was presented today in the form of a letter from Ambassador Daeschner which advised the treasury that Finance Minister Loucheur desired to have the Americans understand that the debt issue held first consideration with him. "There was no date indicated at which further word from the Paris government might be expected, but M. Daeschner asked that the treasury feel assured that the question would be settled as early as possible in a manner satisfactory to both nations."

Inquiry at the treasury developed the indication that the American commission regards the five year temporary settlement plan which was taken back to Paris by M. Caillaux as "still open," but there was no hint as to whether M. Loucheur favored that basis.

Depends on Cabinet's Fate.
Although M. Daeschner's communication quoted M. Loucheur as saying the American debt was of first consequence to him, the treasury does not expect that any move can be made upon the question until the political crisis has been safely passed and a government that will weather the storm has been set up. While the vote of confidence given Premier Briand today was small, it was regarded as having supplied a foothold for the present cabinet, and its position may later be strengthened, in which event the debt is expected to be considered.

Jugo-Slavia Coming to Bat.
The foreign debt question further was brought to the fore through receipt of official information that the government of Jugo-Slavia was prepared to initiate a funding arrangement here. A commission has been named and the state department here has had word that the contingent may come late this month. The Jugo-Slav debt slightly exceeds $65,000,000.

Greece, the only other power owing a sum of consequence, has indicated it will propose a funding settlement within another month or two.

FRENCH DEPUTIES VOTE INFLATION OF $300,000,000

O. K. Loucheur's 25% Tax Boost.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, Dec. 3.—After a fourteen hour session, Finance Minister Louis Loucheur's financial project for 1926, 000,000 francs ($300,000,000) inflation in the currency and an average increase in taxation of 25 per cent, was passed by the chamber of deputies this afternoon by a margin of only six votes, the figures being 245 to 239.

Breaking a tradition, even President of the Chamber Herriot descended from the presiding seat to cast a ballot in favor of the cabinet's program when it was realized how narrow the margin would be.

Briand to Fight On.
"A one vote majority would have sufficed," said Premier Aristide Briand after the count. "I will not desert my post and will fight this proposition out until I am overthrown or succeed."

M. Bokanowski, chairman of the chamber budget committee in the Poincaré cabinet, violently combated M. Loucheur's scheme, submitting a substitute proposal, which the government refused to consider.

Circulation Increased.
The Bank of France's official weekly statement this afternoon showed an increased circulation of 1,100,000,000 francs ($44,000,000), the total paper in circulation being 48,183,000,000 francs ($1,927,320,000). The bank's advances to the treasury were increased from 1,500,000,000 francs ($60,000,000) to 32,550,000,000 francs ($1,342,000,000). The franc, which has been bobbing up and down all week, today slumped to twenty-six to a dollar.

The chamber took a recess until 9 o'clock tonight to give the senate an opportunity to vote on the Loucheur bill.

The foreign debt question further was brought to the fore through receipt of official information that the government of Jugo-Slavia was prepared to initiate a funding arrangement here. A commission has been named and the state department here has had word that the contingent may come late this month. The Jugo-Slav debt slightly exceeds $65,000,000.

REBEL FORCES ROUT CHANG IN CHINESE BATTLE

Joins Victors' March on Mukden.

TOKIO, Dec. 3.—(Special.)—The army of Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian dictator, is retreating from near Chinchow, Manchuria, after a major battle, Tokio newspapers said today.

PEKING, Dec. 3.—If President Coolidge had the support only of the militia commander of Ohio, and if all his cabinet save the secretary of the interior had resigned, and if the militia of Ohio and New York were concentrating on a campaign against the militia commander of Maine, the situation would be comparable to that in China today.

China is virtually without a government, while it faces the prospect of a major war to oust Gen. Chang Tso-Lin from the dictatorship in Manchuria.

Provisional President Tuan Chi-Jui is president without a cabinet, all the ministers save King Sing-Chan, minister of the interior, having resigned. None of the resignations has been accepted officially except that of Fun Chu-Ning, under vice minister. The most important resignation is that of Shen Jui-Den, foreign minister and also the chairman of the customs conference. It is believed that Dr. C. T. Wang will succeed him in that office.

Kuo Sung-Ling, Chang's former lieutenant, is without funds and supplies. Feng Yu-Hsiang, the Christian general, is openly supporting Gen. Kuo's fight against Gen. Chang, and is seeking to send supplies through Tientsin. The right to use Tientsin as the point of departure for munitions is challenged by Li Ching-Ling, tuchun of Chihli province. This refusal may precipitate a fight in the Tientsin and Peking territory between the Feng and Li forces.

Seizes Town Left by Chang.
Meanwhile, Gen. Feng has taken control of Jehol, which was left undefended by the departure of troops to aid Gen. Chang in the defense of Mukden, the Manchurian capital. This means double movement from the northwest and from the south by Gen. Kuo, and Gen. Feng's forces will catch Mukden in a pincers movement.

Looney's Old Aid Calls Him King of Vice at Trial
Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Declaring that he is not guilty of the murder of William Gabel, and that he has not been promised immunity, but is testifying to "nail the right man and free the others," Lawrence Pedigo, henchman in 1922 of John Looney in the Rock Island underworld regime, was subjected to a severe grilling by Attorney O. O. Askren of Santa Fe, N. M., in today's session of the trial of Looney, charged with Gabel's slaying.

An effort is being made by the defense to impeach Pedigo's testimony on the ground that it does not correspond with testimony given at the Rock Island trial, in which he was one of the defendants.

While on the stand yesterday Pedigo pictured Looney as the king of the Rock Island underworld, who exacted toll from gamblers, bootleggers, and keepers of houses of prostitution. He connected him with a plot to obtain canceled checks which Gabel had turned over to a federal agent as evidence against the vice ring.

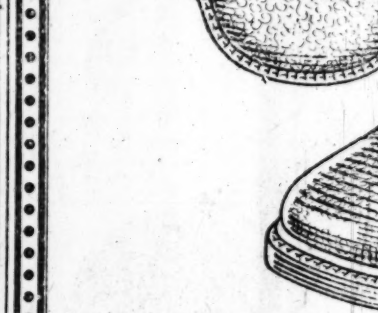

Pedigo stated that he paid Looney protection money in order to run a house of prostitution and bootleg joint. He told of Looney's intimidation of justice officers, as well as underworld characters, under threat of being written up in Looney's newspaper, the Rock Island News.

CAPT. LEE PUT ON TRIAL FOR DURKIN FIASCO

CRIMINAL COURT.
Capt. Lee, 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary, by Judge William V. ...

... Michael Lee of the Englewood ...

counsel, former Judge John F. O'Connell will be the only defense offered. The defense will contend that to have placed a detail on the outside of the Austin flat at 240 Englewood avenue, where Durkin with his sweetheart, Betty Werner, walked into the trap, would have driven the slayer away.

Durkin on Lookout.
Durkin, according to testimony of federal witnesses yesterday, was known to have been on the lookout for details surrounding the house and for that reason it was thought best not to post a cordon of men around the flat.

While the police department was seeking yesterday to fix the blame for the Durkin fiasco on Capt. Lee, police in New York broadcast a general alarm to be on the lookout for Durkin, who is believed to be in New York. Information was received by Gotham police that he has been there ever since he shot his way out of the trap here in October.

Seize Woman After Wait.
Twenty policemen from the Maxwell street station and two squads from the detective bureau rushed to 21st and Halsted streets yesterday after they received a tip that Durkin would meet a woman from New York on that corner. After waiting in vain they asked Margaret Welsh, 20 years old, 925 Irving Park boulevard, formerly questioned in the Durkin case. She had been standing on the corner for some time, as if expecting some one. (She complained to the police that she was being persecuted and that the police had been continually bothering her with Durkin tips. Capt. Stige of the detective bureau promised her protection.)

Seven Tell of Trap.
Seven witnesses took the stand yesterday and testified as to how the trap for Durkin was set in the Englewood avenue flat.

Special Agent J. D. Rooney described how Betty Werner had been watched at 225 Englewood avenue, the home of Clarence Ward, brother-in-law of Lloyd Austin, who died from police bullets in the exchange of shots in his flat when Durkin entered.

Chief of Police Morgan Collins declared in his testimony that had police been placed within easy reach where they could not have been seen, Durkin could have been captured before he entered the house.

DIXIE GALE SETS NORTH ATLANTIC COAST AFOAMING

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The storm which lashed the Florida coast earlier in the week and broke yesterday over New Jersey and New York reached such an intensity today that the coast guard at Asbury Park ordered a double patrol along the entire New Jersey coast tonight.

No loss of life was reported, but property damage was high. The Connecticut coast was pounded by high waves running before a rain laden gale.

Beach structures at Coney Island were demolished and restaurants flooded. Marine police got a building in tow after it had been blown off its piles and drifted almost to Sandy Hook. When the building crashed into the sea several workmen had narrow escapes.

Two barges were torn loose and drifted out toward the sea.

At Belmar, N. J., a 45 mile gale sea undermined Ocean boulevard, isolated the coast guard station, and tore loose many small craft.

AUSTRIA TO ASK LEAGUE TO END FINANCE CONTROL

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
VIENNA, Dec. 3.—Accompanied by Dr. Reich, president of the Austrian National bank, the Austrian delegates to the league of nations left Vienna for Geneva this evening. The delegation includes Chancellor Ramek, Finance Minister Ahrer, and Foreign Minister Mataja.

The departure is marked by strong national hopes that the delegates may during the December session at Geneva convince the league that the time is now ripe to remove the financial control and let Austria govern its own money matters.

Herren Ramek, Ahrer, and Mataja also will try to induce the league to exert influence to persuade the states neighboring Austria to reduce their import taxes and broaden the market for Austrian manufactured goods. Financial circles in Vienna do not believe industrial recuperation is possible unless the inter-Balkan tariff war ceases.

POLICE BULLETS HALT SUSPECT IN CON GAME

After firing several shots in a chase which began at Desplaines and Lake streets, three policemen from the Deering street station last night captured William P. Sterling, 3056 North Sawyer avenue, who is alleged to have gained possession of $27,300 worth of brass through the operation of a confidence game.

Two weeks ago a number of order blanks bearing the name of J. E. Bower, general manager of the Liquid Carbonic company, 3100 South Kedzie avenue, were stolen. Four firms filled orders drawn on these blanks and the material was hauled away in trucks.

The police notified all brass firms to be on the lookout for such orders. Sergts. Hall, Querin, and O'Toole, following a tip, arrested James Fanello, 915 Lytle street, on Wednesday when he called with an order at the plant of Rome Brass company, 3649 South Racine avenue. He asserted that he had turned all the metal over to Sterling. The latter was booked on four charges of con game operation.

STUMBLES INTO PATH OF TAXI; FATALLY HURT

Driver Is Held for Manslaughter.

Leonard Lundell, 47 years old, stumbled into the path of a taxicab at Oakwood boulevard and Langley avenue last night and was instantly killed. His death, with that of a woman, raised the 1925 motor death toll to 731.

Lundell was said by police to have been intoxicated. The taxicab driver was not held. Lundell's brother said he did not know where the dead man had lived or worked.

Held on Manslaughter Charge.

Following the death of Mrs. Rose Deal, 49 years old, 3542 East 95th street, a coroner's jury held Joseph Dakopil of Gary, Ind., on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs. Deal was injured last Sunday when she was struck by Dakopil's automobile at 95th street and Ewing avenue. Witnesses testified that Dakopil was unable to stop his machine until it had passed fifty feet beyond where he had struck Mrs. Deal. A child was cut and a man bruised in a peculiar accident at Halsted and 75th streets. William A. Yardley, 1237 West 81st street, had stopped his automobile behind a south bound Halsted street car. Charles Miller, 10721 Eggleston avenue, stopped his automobile behind Yardley's car. A second street car rammed the two automobiles from behind, squeezing them against the first street car.

Sentence Driver to Jail.

Marcella Miller, 3 years old, daughter of Miller, was cut. Yardley was badly bruised.

Mario Zizzo, 8 years old, 2426 Taylor street, was probably fatally injured and his brother, Frank, 2 years old, was slightly hurt last night when they were struck by a vampire automobile at South Western avenue and Arthington street.

Policeman Michael Richard of the Sheffield avenue station was possibly fatally injured when he was struck at Southport and Diversey avenues by an automobile early this morning. According to Policeman Stephen Brooks, who was with him at the time, Richard was hurled about seventy-five feet. He was taken to the Chicago General hospital.

The driver did not stop. Samuel

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1. Yesterday was the three hundred and thirty-seventh day of 1925.

Katch, a Yellow cab driver, followed to get the license number. He reported that it was 633-519. This number was issued to G. A. Galley of Riverside. He is being sought for questioning.

JEWISH CHARITY FUND CLIMBS TO $2,148,961

Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, honorary chairman of the women's division of the united drive for $4,000,000, presiding at a breakfast at the Congress hotel yesterday which opened the women's activities in the campaign, contributed the first $25,000 of a fund totaling $164,200, collected from the $90 women present.

Contributions of $10,000 each were announced from Mrs. Babette Mandel and Mrs. Albert Loeb; Mrs. Joseph N. Eisenstath and Mrs. Cora Hyman each pledged $6,000. Mrs. M. L. Rothchild, general chairman of the women's division, who is ill in a hospital, gave $5,000. The same amount was donated by Mrs. Dora Frank, Mrs. E. G. Foreman, Mrs. Belle Kuppenheimer, Mrs. Edwin Romberg, and Mrs. Morris Rosenwald.

Mrs. Joseph Stein, who gave $2,000 to get the license number, announced $15,000 more for a special scholarship at the Jewish People's Institute.

Total donations to the fund to date are $2,148,961.

Population of N. Y. City 5,900,000, Census Estimate

New York, Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Although the state census returns from New York City have not yet been entirely tabulated, the World says they will show a population around 5,900,000. The figure is about 200,000 less than the latest published figure of the New York City health department, which Jan. 1, 1925, showed an estimated population of 6,103,375. The present census was taken in June, five months later. The increase over the federal census of 1920 is approximately 300,000.

Being Lost in Loop Jungle No Terror to This Babe, 3

John Lester Whitlock, 3 years old, 469 Anthony street, Glen Ellyn, wandered away from his parents near the Marshall Field & Co. store yesterday. But he wasn't bothered. He had been instructed what to do in such a case. He informed the nearest traffic policeman what had happened, adding his name, address and telephone number. At the Central station he declared that he had seen Santa Claus and put in a request for a policeman's uniform.

This new Durel fabric overcoat. It's the answer, though, to a very emphatic demand from a lot of the men who come here. They say, "I'd be glad to pay most anything for a coat that would really stand up under the wear I give one." Well, here it is. Costly, but dirt cheap for what you get.

CLOSE PLEA TO FREE KIP FROM DUSKY "DELILAH"

To Jury Today; Father of Girl Creates Scene.

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 3.—(AP)—With a final appeal to the jury to free Leonard Kip Rhinelander "from this horrible, unnatural and absurd union," Attorney Isaac N. Mills today closed his summation in young Rhinelander's suit for annulment of his marriage to Alice Beatrice Jones, part Negro housemaid of New Rochelle, N. Y. Summation having been completed for the defense, court was adjourned until tomorrow, when the jury will receive the case for deliberation. Justice Morschauer indicated that his charge will be brief.

"Give this boy a chance to reclaim himself and the name he has been smeared under the bedevilment of the defendant," Mr. Mills pleaded. He accused Alice of having consistently pursued "a diabolical plan of campaign" to ensnare Rhinelander.

Kip Ensnared, His Plea.
"She had brains," the lawyer said. "At the end of a year of her campaign she owned the boy body and soul."

Assuring the jury that Rhinelander's intelligence was below normal, the plaintiff's counsel declared that even brilliant mental ability is not proof against "the charms of an evil woman." Nor was Rhinelander the first man to fall under the spell of such charms, the lawyer asserted, averring that history is replete with the names of great men who likewise succumbed. Alice Beatrice Jones, the lawyer said, was comparable in her ascendancy over young Rhinelander, to Delilah in her enslavement of Samson; to Salome; to the dusky Cleopatra with her hold on Mark Antony; comparable in her charms to Helen of Troy.

Alice's Father In Disturbance.

The summation has a sensational moment when George Jones, father of Alice, jumped to his feet and shouted protestations at being termed a "taxicab driver." Mrs. Jones, Alice's mother, collapsed in tears and the court took a 15 minute recess.

Mills had stated that Jones had taken out a license to drive a taxicab, and that in the application Jones had stated that he was "colored."

Jones shouted at the lawyer: "I'm no taxicab driver. I never was a taxicab driver."

When Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Mrs. Rhinelander sought to quiet him, Jones protested, "don't let him say those things about me."

Maj. Gen. Foreman Praises
Thirty-third Division

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman praised the discipline and the equipment of the special units attached to the Thirty-third division headquarters last night after an inspection in the armory at 115 East Ontario street. The units are the divisional headquarters company, the Thirty-third signal company, the 108th ordnance company, and the 108th motorcycle company, all under the general command of Lieut. Col. Walter J. Fisher.

FAKE DUKE ROBS YANK'S WIFE, BUT LAUGH'S ON PARIS

BY HENRY WALES.

(Copyright, 1923, By The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The prey of another of the "vulture noblemen" who are infesting Paris, Madeline Swift, French wife of Mr. Swift, a well known sportsman of New York and Mount Vernon, complained today that she had lost 100,000 francs ($4,000) worth of jewelry and set the police on the trail of Jules Roubaud, an alleged Marseilles jailbird, known in elegant society as the Duc des Esbarts de Bellonnet. Mrs. Swift, who is separated from her husband, says she met the handsome though fake duke two weeks ago and he admired her five platinum bracelets set with diamonds and sapphires from the start. Last night he took her to dinner, for which he allowed her to pay, and then suggested a drive this morning to Chantilly for lunch with friends.

The duke called this morning at a Montmartre flat, where Mrs. Swift and friends were having a breakfast party. Her jewels were in a handbag resting on a mantel. The jolly party did not notice the duke's movements until he suggested that as long as they were not ready he would fill the car with gasoline. He did not return and the handbag was missed. The fact that Mrs. Smith is French, though married to an American, caused amusement in Paris today.

COL. F. E. RAND APPOINTED HEAD OF 132D INF.

Maj. Fred E. Rand, executive officer on the staff of Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity, commanding the Sixty-fifth infantry brigade, yesterday was appointed colonel of the 132d infantry to succeed Col. William E. Swanson, who resigned recently because of business.

Col. Rand, who is 46 years old and married, is an overseas veteran of the world war and also a veteran of the Spanish-American war and the Mexican border campaign. In 1916 he organized the machine gun company of the 132d with which he served overseas until promoted to be major in charge of railroads and fodder of the thirty-third division. He rejoined the 132d after the war as machine gun commander, serving until appointed on Gen. Garrity's staff.

ITALIAN LEADER BACKS U. S. BAR TO IMMIGRATION

Work Enough in Italy
Now, Count Volpi Says.

BY LARRY RUE.
(Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)
ROME, Dec. 3.—Count Volpi, who headed the Italian debt funding mission to America, on enjoining at Paris for Rome gave an interview to the Tribune approving the American restrictions on Italian immigration.

"Immigration is not necessary now that there is employment in Italy," he said. "If Italians go to America the price of labor here will be higher."

He added that America will be forced eventually to let down the bars for Italian labor. Americans recognize, Count Volpi insisted, that Italy is the only country in Europe that has recovered from the war and that it is leading in reconstruction.

Abolish Chambers of Commerce.

The chamber of deputies was occupied today with passing the royal decrees. Tomorrow a bill substituting national economic councils for the present chambers of commerce will be adopted. It is expected that the law authorizing the formation of the hegemony which will dictate to both capital and labor will be adopted on Saturday.

The senate committee today approved the press law.

Desert Opposition.

Trouble was narrowly averted in the chamber today with the return of two deputies, former members of the Popular party, behind Sig. Farinacci, secretary general of the Fascist party, who protected them from assault. The chamber was quiet when it was told that the deputies were deserting the ranks of the Populars and joining the National Catholics, supporting the government. Others deserting the opposition are gradually trying to join in this way.

Lester Yapp, 28, of 5107 Kenmore avenue, was discharged on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of the girl, but was rearrested on a warrant charging another offense.

CHILEAN CROWDS FETE U. S. GOVS SAILING FOR HOME

Pershing Still Mum on Edwards Tiff.

BY GERALD MARTIN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 3.—The United States cruiser Rochester left for New York today. It is due there on Dec. 20 after three days at the Panama canal.

Admiral Latimer and the officers received ovations from everybody at a Union club farewell party, including Señor Agustín Edwards, Señor Freyre, and the Chilean and Peruvian delegations, while a boy of Tacna-Arica's prettiest señoritas escorted the admiral to the dock, carrying bouquets of flowers. Gen. Pershing later visited the Rochester, saying good-by.

The Tacna-Arica papers this evening print editorials eulogizing Admiral Latimer, the officers, and crew of the Rochester, and welcome Capt. Weyman, an Evanston man, and the Denver, which arrived here yesterday.

Crowds Wave Good-by.

Admiral Latimer this morning visited the Chilean cruiser O'Higgins and the Peruvian transport Ucayali. Crowds lined the shore at 1:30 as the Rochester sailed north.

Santiago radio messages this afternoon state that the Chilean delegate to the league of nations has placed a complete report of the Tacna-Arica happenings before the Geneva body. The papers here carry big headlines and satisfaction is felt among the Chileans here.

The situation otherwise is quiet. Former President Arturo Alessandri's departure without saying farewell to Gen. Pershing has passed unnoticed. The Chilean legal adviser, Samuel Claro, has gone to Iquique. Agustín Edwards, the Chilean member, has just returned from Tacna, where he discussed the situation with the Chilean delegate to the boundary commission.

Receives Many Messages.

Señor Edwards is receiving messages of congratulations from every part and party in Chile over his Saturday's oration to the commission. His speech was not liked by the Americans here and the release of it to the press is thought to have been in questionable taste. Gen. Pershing refuses to present the release of his reply to the press, feeling it would be a breach of confidence and that the commission's meetings are private.

Foreign Minister Barros Jarpa stated in Santiago this morning that he is confident that the present impasse will pass away, that Chile has not lost hope, that the plebiscite will be held, and that neither President Coolidge, Gen. Pershing, nor the American people want trouble for Chile, but all are working toward a peaceful settlement.

N. Y. MEMORIAL SOCIETY PROGRAM.
Dr. C. George Fox will address the Memorial society of Northwestern university Sunday afternoon at the Congress hotel. Following the talk the drama group of the society will present a program.

Where Chicago Spends the Winter

IF you will drive from Sarasota north over the Tamiami Trail to Whitfield Estates with someone thoroughly informed on the ownership of the land you will be astonished at hearing the names of so many wealthy and famous people who live here.

One man whose fortune is one of America's greatest lives here. With all the world to pick from he chose Sarasota on the West Coast of Florida. Another man, a world traveler, has built here.

And so for miles!

Every one of these men could buy any land they desired. Price was no consideration when they made their final selection. It is truly most evident that they valued the Whitfield Estates region above all others.

Read this List of Notables

"Who's who," comes to Sarasota in the winter. The Ringlings, John and Charles, have vast estates here, as have Mrs. Stanley Field of Chicago; the Palmers and Edson Keith, of Chicago; Percy W. Rockefeller; Prince and Princess Cantacuzene-Speransky, of the Royal House of Russia; Samuel Gumpertz, the Coney Island amusement king; J. C. Brown, silk manufacturer; William Selby, oil magnate; Andrew Jergen, soap manufacturer; J. E. Cousins, prominent Massachusetts shoe manufacturer; John J. McGraw, of baseball fame, and many others.

Your Opportunity

Despite the fact that these notables have chosen to live here does not indicate that prices are beyond the reach of others. Lots can actually be purchased in Whitfield Estates today at the cost of surrounding acreage plus complete improvements. This opportunity will not be for long for property values climb quickly and prices must keep pace. Act now! This is your opportunity to profit in a big way.

THE JEWEL OF THE WEST COAST OF FLORIDA

Deep into the knife-like peninsula of southern Florida toward the Spanish Main, midst luxurious tropical landscaping and azure seas; where de Leon sought his fabled fountain of youth and the intrepid de Sota landed, lived and loved is the most treasured jewel on the west coast of Florida—WHITFIELD ESTATES.

To those who see this sight comes the urge to build and live in this entrancing spot.

An eminent banker of broad experience states that 15% of our entire population is financially able to go to Florida, but that only 3% have heeded the call so far. To come to the West Coast of Florida now spells opportunity for those who have the vision and the courage to back it with action. America's last frontier calls. Will you heed its call?

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Poland prepared to balance its budget and stand on its own feet. It wants credits and of course, but does not intend to ask them.

These facts were told to The Tribune today by Count Skrzynski, Polish premier, who has been in London for the signing of the Locarno pact. "The economic crisis in Europe will not be solved without the event of Poland must frame its budget without counting on credits," Skrzynski said. "I formed a government only ten days ago, and have not time to go into the matter of finance minister. I intend to immediately on my return to Warsaw and my plan is to balance the budget without credits."

Poland to Stand Alone.

"Of course money is necessary for the development of economic industry, but we must learn to depend on ourselves. It is almost impossible for the nation to be completely self-sufficient, but it is hopeless to ask outside assistance. We will make it necessary, but we will not ask it."

Replying to a question about Poland's relations with Russia, Skrzynski said:

"There certainly exists a desire for amicable relations between Poland and Russia. This, however, is confined to economic and trade relations. No other ship is possible. Further development of the relations with Russia worked out in a treaty of commerce being negotiated. Russia is now again in an enormous market for Polish textiles. Of course, trade and economic conditions are now difficult, but we will be overcome."

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Poland proposes to finance its budget and stand on its own feet. It wants credits and loans, of course, but does not intend to rely on them.

These facts were told to THE TRIBUNE by Count Skrzynski, the Polish minister, who has been in London since the signing of the Locarno treaty. "The economic crisis in Europe cannot be solved without the eventual assistance of America, but I personally believe Poland must frame its budget without counting on credits," Count Skrzynski said. "I formed a cabinet only ten days ago, and have not had time to go into the matter with the minister. I intend to do this immediately on my return to Warsaw, and my plan is to balance the budget without credits."

Poland to Stand Alone.
"Of course money is necessary for the development of economic life and industry, but we must learn to depend on ourselves. It is almost impossible for the nation to be completely self-sufficient, but it is hopeless to count on outside assistance. We will economize if necessary, but we will build wisely."

Replying to a question about Poland's relations with Russia, Count Skrzynski said: "There certainly exists a desire on both sides for amicable relations. This, however, is confined to economic and trade relations. No other friendship is possible. Further development of the relations with Russia will be worked out in a treaty of commerce now being negotiated. Russia was and can again be an enormous market for Polish goods. Of course, all the trade and economic conditions in Europe are now difficult, but we hope they will be overcome."

Went From New Division.
Dealing with the subject of military and disarmament, he said: "We do not intend to be the only people to disarm. We have no intention of allowing a repetition of the eighteenth century, when Poland disarmed and Frederick the Great and Catherine of Russia, who had entirely different ideas, walked in and partitioned her. Participation with all countries in disarmament is desirable, but we must put security before disarmament."

BUSINESS MEN SEEK WAY TO END STRIKE OF MINERS

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Business interests of the anthracite region are engaged in working out a plan to be submitted to miners and operators in a few days with the hope that it will end the coal strike. The movement is led by the chambers of commerce of Scranton, Wilkesbarre, and Hazleton.

Commercial interests are up in arms against Gov. Pinchot's "political interference." They let it become known today that the governor's plan did not have the approval of the chambers of commerce.

Business leaders pointed out to the governor last week, it was learned today, that there was no possibility of his plan meeting approval. He was asked to abandon that plank in his proposals which called for the fixing of prices for five years. It was declared that this was uneconomic, and that the operators were unable to predict conditions years in advance. The governor insisted on this clause going into the proposals.

Now Gov. Pinchot, in a telegram from Corry, Pa., has invited representatives of the three chambers of commerce to confer with him in Harrisburg next Tuesday. Spokesmen for the business interests will make it clear that they no longer have faith in "political intervention" and prefer to work out the problem in their own way. By Tuesday, the business men hope to submit their plan to both sides.

It is hinted that Vice President Dawes may soon be approached to take a hand in the situation. Gen. Dawes would be unacceptable to the miners, for he has been attacked by labor as an "open shopper."

The anthracite operators appear to be determined not to permit Gov. Pinchot to settle the strike and reap the senatorial reward which he expects to follow. They will turn a cold ear to every proposal he makes.

AMERICAN LIVES ARE INSURED FOR $72,000,000,000

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Proof that Americans hold life dear was offered today at the opening of the nineteenth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents. Chairman William A. Law, president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, disclosed that insurance purchased this year—1925—by Americans will aggregate a national total of $15,400,000,000, the greatest in the history of insurance.

This sum is twice the total amount of insurance outstanding on all American lives in 1900, Mr. Law said, and increases the cumulative total of insurance in force today to $72,000,000,000, an amount greater than the combined insurance of the rest of the world. The per capita insurance in the United States has advanced from $111 to $630 since 1925, Mr. Law declared, and the average insurance carried by 54,000,000 policy holders is $1,335, as contrasted with an average of $356 carried by 10,000,000 policy holders twenty-five years ago.

What Made Her Guests Exchange Glances?

It was one of those little dinners that meant much. And all seemed well. The soup had been a triumph. There never were such squabs. The hostess was elated. Then—

The glasses were empty. "The water, Hilda!" Swiftly, her maid went to fill the pitcher. A momentary silence, and they heard the faucet running.

Drinking-water from the hydrant!

Casual conversation resumed, of course. But she caught the looks of surprise. Nor could the polite sips which followed the filling of glasses allay her embarrassment. Too late, she realized that fastidious folk did not drink from the faucet!

As one tempting dish followed another, all she seemed to taste was the water. And it did taste, no mistake. How had her family ever grown used to it?

That night, she dreamed of drinking-water; she saw herself entertaining Royalty, and her guests drinking at the kitchen sink. Then, the dignified guest of honor, attempting to drink directly from the faucet, amid shrieks of laughter! It was the last time her household was ever without pure spring water for the table.

Too many people of otherwise discriminating taste are careless as to the water they drink. Too many deny themselves enough water for inner cleanliness and health, for lack of crystal clear, invitingly pure water from a spring. For food, only the best. For beverages, only White Rock Pale Dry ginger ale or sparkling water will do. But with their meals, water run from the hydrant!

Why does anybody drink impure water? Carelessness. Or else, the mistaken notion that pure spring water is a luxury. It may have been once; it is not, today. All that a big family could drink costs but a trifle. The bill for a whole year would not be large to the humblest workingman. Organization has done this; Chicagoans may now have fresh water daily from the famous Waukesha springs. Glass-lined tank cars bring it every morning from Wisconsin; a fleet of thirty-five trucks delivers it like your newspaper. It's the purest water that ever bubbled from a spring. It comes in air-tight bottles, so that no impurities could creep in later—however long you kept it. So, drink water that is safe—that never "tastes"—that's always delightfully drinkable.

Where do you get this wonderful spring water? Telephone Superior 6543 today, and your home will be kept supplied. The cost? A cent or two a meal!

This notice inserted in the interest of pure water supply by Hinckley and Schmitt, Inc.

MA'S FOES PLAN NEXT ATTACK TEXTBOOK DE

Say Highest Bidder
Awarded Contract

Austin, Tex., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Opponents of the Ferguson textbook are planning to attack the state textbook commission if impeachment proceedings brought against Gov. Miriam Ferguson.

The minutes of the committee that Mrs. Ferguson, as chairman, pointed her husband, James E. Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from office, as governor of Texas eight years ago, as clerk of the commission, opened bids and sat with the committee while it discussed the awarding of the contract.

It is also shown by the minutes that Mrs. Ferguson, as chairman, pointed her husband, James E. Ferguson, who was impeached and removed from office, as governor of Texas eight years ago, as clerk of the commission, opened bids and sat with the committee while it discussed the awarding of the contract.

The contract is estimated by the Ferguson Forum, edited and published by Jim, at close to $1,000,000. The state department of education put it at about $600,000, estimated by Jim at about $1,000,000. They will buy about 1,300,000 books in the next six years.

The American Book company, highest bidder among fifteen or more book companies which entered the contest, is the company which entered the contest. At the lower estimate of the value of the contract, education department said, the transaction would be the state during the six year period about $120,000 more than it would have to pay to other bidders of the nature.

Mrs. Ferguson called the commission together on Oct. 12 last, to open bids, and recommended that her husband be appointed clerk of the commission. There was no provision in the constitution for this, so a resolution was passed empowering "Ma" to do as she pleased. This she did.

Spread of 19 Cents.

The spelling book contract, most profitable one, and the one that has been criticized. It has been held for six years by the World Book company of New York. Between 20 companies submitted bids, were opened by Jim as clerk of the commission.

The American Book company entered a bid of 35 and 38 cents a book series, "Essentials of English," by Pearson and Suzzall. World Book company's bid was 44 and 46 cents for the "New Spelling" by Wohlforth and Rodgers. Co. of New York submitted 44 and 46 cents for the "Lewell."

There was a spread of 19 cents between the high and low bid on book series and of 17 cents between

STOCK SHOW KING PROVES ROYALTY ON AUCTION BLOCK

Mah-Jongg, Prize Beef, Brings $3 a Pound.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Mah Jones, grand champion beef animal of the 1925 International Live Stock exposition, was sold from the auction block yesterday at a price that broke the records of all previous shows. It was $3 a pound, $4,680 for his 1,560 pounds. The highest price ever paid before for a grand champion was $2.62 a pound.

Mah-Jongg, exhibited by Iowa State college, Ames, Ia., was bought through Armour & Co. for John M. Bowman of the Baltimore hotel, New York.

King of the Fairies, the Prince of Wales' 1925 International grand champion short horn bull, sold for $1,060 to Frank D. Baker of Kansas City, Mo. This was considered a low price by the experts. The great white bull, brought down from the prince's ranch at Pelly, Alberta, Canada, will head the Baker herd on a farm at Hickman, Mo.

Sales Draw Big Crowd.
The sales of these two animals attracted thousands of show visitors, who almost deserted the judging ring while the grand champions were on the block.

A few minutes before King of the Fairies was put up at auction, Collyne Supreme, another short horn bull, two years old, sold for $3,300, the highest price of the day in his class. He was owned by Easton & Ward of Diable, Cal., and went to Hay Brown of Sharpshooter, Ill.

John Hubby's prize carload of cattle was bought in by the Palmer house of Chicago at 43 cents a pound. This price was considered high. The cattle, fed on Hubby's farm at Mason City, Ill., brought a total of $6,772.56.

Judges Keep on Job.
The stock judges continued their work of picking the champions throughout the day.

In the draft horse division P. C. Good of Ogden, Ill., won the grand champion and senior champion Belgian mare honor with Paraclete C. The reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion went to Ruby, owned by C. A. Wentz, Kirby, O. Everett King of Chicago was awarded the junior champion Belgian mare honor on Miss Mira de Master. The reserve junior title went to Irvinella Freda, entered by Charles Irvine, Kentucky, Ia.

WHEAT JUMPS OVER 6 CENTS DURING DAY; PUBLIC IS BUSY BUYING

With wheat futures gaining 5 1/2 to 6 cents here yesterday, professional traders are buying and selling with caution, while the public is active to such an extent that talk of $2 wheat again is heard.

In a few weeks the daily amount of speculative trading in wheat has more than doubled. On Wednesday such trading amounted to $1,650,000 in Chicago, and $4,000,000 in Winnipeg.

With price jumps of 14 1/2 cents a bushel in Chicago in the last four days and Liverpool showing virtually the same increase, veteran traders are calling the sensational break of 70 cents a bushel from the high point of $2.05 1/2 a bushel when the market broke last year. At that time the drop cost the public many millions of dollars.

Closing prices yesterday were the highest of the season, with new December $1.78 1/2 in Chicago, and May $1.73 1/2. The wheat for the year was led by May wheat. Yesterday it gained 7 to 8 1/2 cents in Winnipeg and 6 cents in Minneapolis.

Conditions are different from a year ago. The wheat supply of the United States is 44,000,000 bushels, while last year it was 100,000,000 bushels.

COOLIDGE COMES HERE MONDAY AS FARMERS' GUEST

Will Arrive in Morning, Leave in Afternoon.

Agricultural leaders of the country, and through them all the country's millions of farmers will be chief beneficiaries of President Calvin Coolidge's brief visit in Chicago next Monday.

Others may see the President and cheer and read him, in person or by radio, but his time, and the time of the first lady, will belong to the farmers.

From the moment Mr. Coolidge arrives in the city, at about 9 o'clock in the morning, until he leaves some time early in the afternoon, he will be the guest of the American Farm Bureau federation.

Will Stay at Sherman. On arrival the presidential party will be escorted to the Hotel Sherman, where all Mr. Coolidge's activities during the visit will take place.

The President will travel just as he has done for the last year, on the second section of one of the regular trains. In the party with him and Mrs. Coolidge will be only Secretary Everett Sanders; Maj. James F. Coughlin, the President's physician; Col. S. A. Cheney, his military aid; Richard Jervis, chief of the White House secret service; and a number of other secret service men.

At 11 o'clock Mr. Coolidge will make his principal address to the delegates of the Farm Bureau federation. He will speak in the grand ballroom of the Sherman, and since there are already 5,000 reservations for this meeting, it is certain that many will hear it through the amplifiers which will be installed.

Expect Throng for Address. The ballroom itself will hold only some 3,000. It is expected that at least as many more persons will be seated on the balconies, on the mezzanine floor, and in rooms opening off the ballroom, where they may hear the chief executive speaking.

At noon the President and Mrs. Coolidge will be guests of honor at separate luncheons. Mr. Coolidge will be entertained by seventy-five of the nation's farm leaders in the offices of the state and national farm bureau federations. The first lady will lunch and talk with women interested in agriculture and farm topics.

Several additional cottages will be erected, it is reported, and an additional nine-hole golf course installed. There is a nine-hole course on the grounds at present.

NO BEGINNING OR END TO UNIVERSE, IS LODGE THEORY

(Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times.) LONDON, Dec. 3.—The theory that the universe renews itself in cycles and need not necessarily have either a beginning or an ending was advanced by Sir Oliver Lodge in this year's Huxley lecture delivered to-night in London.

Dealing with cosmic evolution, Sir Oliver said it would seem as if the universe as a vital and going concern must have had a beginning and must have an end. The beginning was the formation of nebulae 200,000,000,000 years ago. The end apparently would be the disappearance of matter and the existence once more of ether filled with perpetual remnants of radiation traveling out in all directions toward infinity with the speed of light at a rate incomparably remote.

He doubted whether the idea of termination in any form was tenable and suggested the theory of the dust of the universe driven to the confines of space by the pressure of light receiving waste radiation and being ionized by it, chemical activity thus coming into full blast. Thus would begin once more the clash of atoms, formation of nebulae, birth of stars and ultimately planets.

50,000 AT PHILADEL

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Fifty thousand persons, the largest ever to attend a professional football game in this city, will shiver park Saturday to see Grange strut his stuff with the Chicago Bears against the Philadelphia Yellow Jackets in a National League battle. Coach Chamberlain, ex-Cornhusker, took eighteen jacket huskies to Atlantic City today to rest their return for the game. The Yellow Jackets' starting line-up probably will be: Craig, right end; Lowe, Penn State tackle; Hoffman, Syracuse, guard; McCormick, Colgate, center; Spagnola, Colgate, right tackle; Lehanon, quarter back; Mer, Penn, and Fliske, half back; Stochton, Syracuse, full back; Wilcox, Swarthmore, captain full back, joined the team and likely will alternate at back.

BY WESTBROOK PEGE
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)
New York, Dec. 3.—(Special.)—Among students and alumni it is generally regarded as a privilege for three hours on close territory the climate at its worst and to group for dear old Alma Mater the question arises whether it is a privilege to do so or a benefit of the dear old school.

Red Grange, who has never troubled the turf of a New York school, will do so Sunday afternoon in the Chicago Bears game with the so-called New Giants and naturally there is curiosity to see what he does as he does it.

80,000 More or Less.
Dr. Harry March, the secret of the so-called New York Giants, is to get ten per cent of the tickets for this game sold already. He also says the plant will hold 80,000 persons for the game, although it is imagined how this can be uncounted each customer as the representative of a whole family. He says he expects to fill the premises with football customers, regardless of the weather, which is terrible if it gets no worse than right now—as it probably will.

Dr. March doesn't state whether the football customers are much more hardy and goody than the baseball customers who have known to scream for prescription for the Dutchman's intensest rumor of rain in the country. But he seems convinced they are, and if the weather cools down until Sunday afternoon, Red Grange will find a game which will cost them or ease them.

Grange Pockets 10 Per Cent.
Grange is to get ten per cent of the receipts, Dr. March says, but ten per cent will come from the Chicago team's share of money.

Red will come up from Philadelphia Saturday evening as soon as the laces of his armor are in, into traveling costume, intent on a banquet which will be served for one of the innumerable teams of which he is a member.

Swede Oberlander of Dartmouth, all-Americans, who secured a million wages of professional football, was invited and assured that the team of the tattered Grange will their amateurism. Grange, Chicago team and the so-called New Giants have been bidden party.

WHEATSALE (CRIMINAL BUTTER PRICES)
Chicago, Dec. 3. — (P) — Unsettled by the danger that the advance
in the London bank rate to 5 per cent
would lead to an increase in the New York reserve rate, the stock market
pressed forward to higher ground
today on an expanded volume of trading. Total sales reached the 2,000,000
share level for the first time in more than a week.

Early unsettlement, occasioned by the bank of England's action, was gradually dispelled by assurances from bankers and treasury officials that no
immediate change was necessary at New York, and their views were borne out after the close of the market, when the local 3 1/2 per cent rate was retained.

Initial selling orders were readily absorbed, opening the way for a resumption of constructive operations. Prices moved up under the leadership of standing industrial shares, with the advance gathering momentum as trading progressed.

Gains Up to 8 Points.
Gains of 2 to 8 points were registered
by United States Steel, Du Pont, American Can, General Electric, and American Sugar.

Motor shares, which yesterday gave evidence of good recuperative power, attracted further support today. General
Motors, Hudson, Chrysler, Studebaker
and Willys-Overland scored substantial gains, but profit-taking caused a recession of more than a point in Chandler
United States Rubber, Stewart-Warner
and other accessory issues were in demand, but Murray Body broke more than 4 points, to a new low at 5 1/2, on the announcement that a temporary receiver
had been appointed for the company.

Aggressive bullish demonstrations were repeated in several specialties. Commercial Credit soared more than 8 points, to a new high record for the year, while
Harrington Typewriter, American Ice
Coca-Cola, Owens Bottle preferred, Lud-
lum Steel, and Foundation company sold
3 to 6 points higher.

Rail Shares Neglected.
Rail shares were neglected, despite the announcement that freight traffic for the week ended Nov. 21 had exceeded one million cars for the eighteenth time this year. Chicago and Northwestern, Southern Railway, and Western Pacific preferred registered moderate improvement.

Trading in foreign exchanges was quiet. Demand sterling responded to the increase in the London bank rate with a fractional advance to 14 1/4, and French francs were strengthened by the prospect for an early renewal of debt-funding negotiations.

Call money held firm at 5 per cent all
day. Time money rates were unchanged at 4 1/2 to 5 per cent and commercial paper
remained in good demand.

Motor shares, which yesterday gave evidence of good recuperative power, attracted further support today. General
Motors, Hudson, Chrysler, Studebaker
and Willys-Overland scored substantial
gains, but profit-taking caused a recession of more than a point in Chandler
United States Rubber, Stewart-Warner
and other accessory issues were in demand, but Murray Body broke more than 4 points, to a new low at 5 1/2, on the announcement that a temporary receiver
had been appointed for the company.

Aggressive bullish demonstrations were repeated in several specialties. Commercial Credit soared more than 8 points, to a new high record for the year, while
Harrington Typewriter, American Ice
Coca-Cola, Owens Bottle preferred, Lud-
lum Steel, and Foundation company sold
3 to 6 points higher.

Rail Shares Neglected.
Rail shares were neglected, despite the announcement that freight traffic for the week ended Nov. 21 had exceeded one million cars for the eighteenth time this year. Chicago and Northwestern, Southern Railway, and Western Pacific preferred registered moderate improvement.

Trading in foreign exchanges was quiet. Demand sterling responded to the increase in the London bank rate with a fractional advance to 14 1/4, and French francs were strengthened by the prospect for an early renewal of debt-funding negotiations.

Call money held firm at 5 per cent all
day. Time money rates were unchanged
at 4 1/2 to 5 per cent and commercial paper
remained in good demand.

fined market was unchanged at 5.00 to 5.05c

Chicago, Dec. 3. — (P) — Un-
settled by the danger that the advance
in the London bank rate to 5 per cent
would lead to an increase in the New York reserve rate, the stock market
pressed forward to higher ground
today on an expanded volume of trading. Total sales reached the 2,000,000
share level for the first time in more than a week.

Early unsettlement, occasioned by the bank of England's action, was gradually dispelled by assurances from
bankers and treasury officials that no
immediate change was necessary at New York, and their views were borne out
after the close of the market, when the local 3 1/2 per cent rate was retained.

Initial selling orders were readily absorbed, opening the way for a resumption of constructive operations. Prices
moved up under the leadership of standing industrial shares, with the advance
gathering momentum as trading progressed.

Gains Up to 8 Points.
Gains of 2 to 8 points were registered
by United States Steel, Du Pont, American Can, General Electric, and American Sugar.

Motor shares, which yesterday gave evidence of good recuperative power, attracted further support today. General

RAISE ENGLAND'S REDISCOUNT RATE NO CHANGE N.Y.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Bank of England yesterday increased its rediscount rate from 4 to 5 per cent. The New York Federal reserve bank announced no change had been made in the 3 1/2 per cent rediscount rate that has been in force since last February.

Both announcements came as a surprise to the financial world. It had been expected the London rate would be increased to 4 1/2 per cent and that this action would be followed by an increase in the New York rate to 4 per cent. But early misgivings over what the Treasury Mellon suggested no change was necessary and none would be made, while at the same time London cables explained the necessity for the sharp increase in the Bank of England rate.

Mellon's Analysis Constructive.

Secretary Mellon's analysis of our credit situation and its bearing on the securities market was ranked as one of the most constructive statements issued by any official of prominence in many months. Mr. Mellon was quoted as saying that speculation had not reached a dangerous point, pointing out that the rise in the stock market in the last year has been general and that speculation always accompanies such an advance.

Generally there is not any outstanding inflation or boom, but an orderly advance. Mr. Mellon holds, and he doubts if the average price of stocks today compares with the average before the war, considering the change in the value of the dollar. He sees no present occasion for an advance in the New York rediscount rate, inasmuch as there is no pressure or increase in discounts, and an effort is always made to adjust the rate to the economic situation.

Rate Would Do No Harm.

Secretary Mellon also expressed the opinion that no particular effect of speculation would result from the New York bank advancing its rate to 4 per cent, should it eventually do so. He thinks the present disparity of 1 1/2 per cent between the London and New York rates may result in gold exports from this country, but he said there is no desire at present to attract gold here and that any movement will depend on the balance of trade.

The increase in the London bank rate was necessitated by heavy drains on its gold supply in the last few months. This outflow has aggregated more than $95,000,000 since the Bank of England reduced its rate to 4 per cent last October, while its gold reserve is $48,000,000 lower than when England returned to the gold standard last April.

Federal Reserve Report.

Secretary Mellon's view that no present change in the New York bank rate is necessary was borne out by the weekly report of the Federal reserve bank last night. Loans of the New York bank have declined $1,924,000 in the last week and the ratio of reserves to liabilities, while now standing at 75, compared with 76.6 last week, is well above the average for the whole system. Reserves and deposits at New York increased $2,665,000 and $14,236,000, respectively, in the last week.

The statement for the reserve system as a whole shows loans expanded $1,161,000, bills bought declined $1,735,000, and government securities increased $7,130,000. Gold and total reserves declined $2,282,000 and $2,225,000, respectively. Deposits rose $2,225,000, with member bank credits and government deposits increasing $15,974,000 and $7,282,000, respectively. Note circulation increased $11,196,000. The Federal reserve ratio to liabilities declined to 70.5 from 71.1 per cent in the preceding week.

Equipment Makers See Bright Prospects for 1926

Heavy purchasing from the equipment manufacturers is scheduled to start within a few months and the general outlook for 1926 is exceptionally good, according to E. P. Lamont, president of the American Steel Foundries, in a statement issued after the regular dividend meeting yesterday. Mr. Lamont said that current business is larger than it has been in many months for his company and that the results would be reflected early in 1926. He added that operations are at about 50 per cent of capacity.

NEW TAX BILL
COMPLETE; NO
UP TO CONGRESS

Dissenting Pla Also Given Out

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Printed copies of the new bill, as approved by the House and passed by the committee, for introduction at the congress convenes Monday, will be made public today by Representative [Rep., Ia.], chairman of the committee. The measure will be introduced in the Green bill.

Representative Green plans to introduce the bill within the next day, or two committee reports which he will prepare on behalf of the Republicans and Democrats who joined in its approval.

Only Two Fail to Approve.

Minority reports, prepared for introduction to the house, were issued today by Representatives Rainey [Ill.], and Hull (Denn., Tenn.), the committee members who failed to approve the non-partisan measure. They charge that the wealthiest taxpayers and those with small incomes have given substantial cuts, but the middle groups have failed to receive sufficient relief.

The new tax bill refines the existing revenue act with such changes as have been made by the ways and means committee. It will take effect on the day of the enactment, which is expected to be about March 1, unless as otherwise provided.

The changes in income tax rates effective as of Jan. 1, 1925, include that the reduced rates were to be in effect on the calendar year 1924 for which returns will be due March 9, 1925. The gift tax would also be of Jan. 1, 1924, but returns on that tax become effective on the date of the passage of the returns on estates not being calendar year basis.
